

Working with Behavioral Challenges in the Classroom

(and family child care)

Wednesday, March 11

6:00 - 8:00 pm

975 Broadway, Jackson

Dinner & free child care provided!

All behavior is communication, and that includes disruptive behavior.

In this training, learn ways to increase positive communication with children who experience difficulties in the classroom (and family child care facilities), and develop emotional regulation skills that each class member can use when struggling in the group environment. Workshop will feature “The Calming Kit,” and will be presented by Noelle Stroppini, Marriage & Family Therapist.

Participants will learn:

- Activities to use for regulating emotions and behavior
- Skills to include in the classroom to increase self-regulation over time
 - How thinking and emotion affect each other
 - One lesson plan for use in classroom setting

Each ‘Amador Quality for Kids’ participant in attendance will receive 1 “Calming Kit” per site, along with other items to take home!
