Inset – 1: Site Vicinity Map

The Project requires a Certificate of Environmental Compatibility ("CEC") from the Arizona Corporation Commission ("ACC"). As part of this permitting process, Sunridge Power and its consultants are conducting a series of studies in support of the applications, including environmental and biological resource assessments, cultural, historic and archaeological reviews, scenic and visual resource evaluations, land use and recreation reviews, and noise assessments.

Sunridge Power will host a virtual community open house to provide an overview of the project, ongoing technical studies, anticipated schedule, and the public review and approval process. The project team will also use this opportunity to engage with community members and address questions.

The CEC process is expected to follow a structured sequence that includes neighborhood outreach, submittal of formal applications, and review by the Arizona Corporation Commission. This will be followed by public hearings before Transmission Line Siting Committee.
