

Do you have a medical technology relevant for DoD? The call for MHSRS Abstracts is now

The 2020 Military Health System Research Symposium (MHSRS) Call for Abstracts opens February 12 and closes March 25.

The MHSRS is the Department of Defense's premier scientific meeting. It provides a collaborative environment for military medical care providers with deployment experience, DoD scientists, academia, and industry to meet and exchange information on the unique medical needs of the Warfighter. The 2020 MHSRS is focused in four primary presentation areas: Warfighter Medical Readiness, Expeditionary Medicine, Warfighter Performance, and Return to Duty.
