

"The idea of winning a doctor's degree gradually assumed the aspect of a great moral struggle, and the moral fight possessed immense attraction for me."

— Elizabeth Blackwell, M.D.,
First Woman Physician in the U.S.

2019 Physician Collegiality Dinners

Everyday, physicians give the gift of healing and support to patients throughout Montgomery County. MCMS's Physician Collegiality Dinners are an opportunity for members to connect and celebrate the art and practice of medicine among the only people who can truly relate to their daily experience-- fellow physicians.

There will be several physician collegiality dinners throughout 2019. Physician members are invited to attend one as a part of your membership. If you'd like to attend additional dinners, the cost is $85 each.

Other Upcoming Dinners:

- Thursday, March 14 at Stanford Grill in Rockville
- Tuesday, April 9 at Pinstripes in North Bethesda, for early career members

Women Physicians' Red Dress Collegiality Dinner & Discussion

Wednesday, February 20

Season's 52

11414 Rockville Pike,
North Bethesda, MD 20852

5:30 PM Wine & Hors d'Oeuvres
6:30 PM Dinner

Women physician members are invited to don a red dress, or a power suit, for this dinner and share experiences related to being a female physician in 2019. How has it changed since Dr. Elizabeth Blackwell became the first female physician? Would she be proud? Or outraged?

Join us, together with your female colleagues, as we celebrate the many rewards (and challenges) of your life.

Women in Medicine Co-Chairs:
Bailey Cannon, M.D. & Tuesday Cook, M.D.

RSVP

Active physician members may select ONE of the six collegiality dinners to attend at no cost. Emeritus members and members who would like to attend a second dinner, $85 each.
