

Training Opportunities .....

FHWA Office of Tribal Transportation Webinars

This TTP 101 webinar series is intended for transportation employees new to the Tribal Transportation Program (TTP) or those that need a refresher. This webinar provides an overview of the purpose and policies of Tribal Transportation Program, including laws and regulations that govern the program.

Details at <https://highways.dot.gov/federal-lands/programs-tribal/webinars>

Upcoming Sessions:

- Just-in-Time Training - Virtual Public Involvement - Nov. 4, 2020
- CM/GC Roundtable - Nov. 18, 2020
- TTP 101 - Project Development - Dec. 16, 2020
- TTP 101 - Construction - Jan. 20, 2021

Details at <https://highways.dot.gov/federal-lands/programs-tribal/webinars>

2020 National Transportation in Indian Country Conference

This conference was held virtually on August 31 - September 4, 2020. The presentations are now available online.

This training is now available in an online format. This new format includes reference materials and presentations based on the original planned agenda for the training, all freely available in an easily accessible format. Visit our website to see all of the available presentations: <https://www.crosstimbersconsulting.com/ttt-presentations/>

Virtual Highway Safety Courses

The National Highway Institute has several highway safety courses that address pedestrian safety, covering topics such as roadway and intersection design, and effective pedestrian crash countermeasures.

These courses are offered on a virtual format, to provide the pedestrian safety training you and your employees need.

Learn how to design roadways and intersections that consider pedestrians and pedestrian traffic. With planning, safety issues can be addressed through roadway design, signage, and pedestrian safety action plans.

Ask your organization to host a virtual training, and we can work together to make our roadways safer for all.

Find out more