

Growing up just outside of Boston, I had the privilege of receiving a strong education at Milton Academy, Boston College, and finally MIT. These experiences provided me with the foundation to establish a company that specialized in restoring historic homes in downtown Boston. This work has resulted in an extensive portfolio of my residential projects and design work.

In 2012, I relocated to Palm Beach and immediately became involved in civic life. I served on our Architectural Commission for seven years, am a current Director of the Palm Beach Civic Association, as well as a Member of the Society of the Arts. But most importantly, I founded Residents First, a platform that emphasizes the residents' critical role in shaping the town.

I have met my fellow residents at meet-and-greets all across the South End from The Patrician, The Dorchester, Atriums, Stratford, 3200, Ibis Isle, Sloans Curve, 2600, Harbour House, and the Royal Saxon, ... just to name a few! During these gatherings, I have heard firsthand stories about the challenges faced by residents, such as displacement due to greed and overdevelopment, the urgent need for improved lake storm surge protection, insurance and milestone expenses, beach renourishment, and dune plantings. Additionally, residents have expressed frustration with the lack of representation in important town decisions and a need for increased active participation in our commissions like ARCOM, Landmarks, and Planning.

Over the past five months, I've heard the residents' desire for change. Two years ago, I won the South End because one of my greatest strengths is my willingness to reject greed and intensification. The concerns of over-development, traffic congestion, and a potential loss of our town's soul have dominated our discussions. I'm listening and will convey this message to the town council if you elect me on March 10th. Together, we can halt further commercial intensification across the island and, where feasible, de-intensify sites to reduce traffic, enhance town-serving amenities, and alter the current trajectory. I'm committed to preserving the South End's campus-like setting, open vistas, and pristine plentiful beaches. We will protect AIA as a Scenic Byway, designate buildings as landmarks, reconstruct our lake shore walls, and improve our walking paths with shade trees and enhanced amenities. I am listening, REALLY LISTENING and will become your most vocal advocate in town decisions if you elect me on March 10th.
