

The Massachusetts Community Health Centers Asthma Educators' Collaborative (MACHCAEC)

Join your colleagues for this short lunchtime meeting and learn more about this new Collaborative and how you might be part of this exciting group.

Who we are:

The Massachusetts Community Health Centers Asthma Educators' Collaborative (MACHCAEC) is a new initiative of Partners Asthma Center at Brigham and Women's Hospital created to fill a gap in communication among asthma educators working in community health centers across the state. The idea for the initiative was the result of conversations with community health centers (CHC) asthma educators who expressed the desire for increased communication with their colleagues working in other CHC across the state.

Goal:

The goal of the MACHCEAC is to provide a forum
- a place for sharing - for all healthcare providers devoted to helping patients and their families manage asthma

Place:

Holyoke Health Center
230 Maple St.,
Holyoke, MA 01040
