

FIRST CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH OF WOLFEBORO, UCC
MISSION COVENANT WITH THE PEOPLE OF KPENOE, GHANA, WEST AFRICA (excerpt)

{Adopted by Church Council and ratified by the congregation of the First Congregational Church, Wolfeboro in worship in 2008.}

Here, abroad, and in a special way with the people of Kpenoe, Ghana, we commit ourselves to ministries of preaching good news, binding up the brokenhearted, freeing the captives and proclaiming the year of the Lord's favor.

Through mission visits, through sharing stories, through lifting burdens, through acts of generosity and service: we will continue to support the vision we have discerned and continue to be faithful to the ministry to which Christ calls us.

Help Support Delali Adzagli, FCCW Congregation's Current Scholar

I'm Adzagli Delali Alfi I hail from a small village called Kpenoe in the Volta Region of Ghana. I start my creche education and junior high school (JHS) in my village of Kpenoe. I continued to Mawuko Senior high School in Ho I am now in Ho Technical University and level 300 reading Hotel Catering and Institutional Management. I am an Amenyo Scholar supported by First Congregational Church, Wolfeboro.

I am from a family of six. My dad, my mom, and three siblings. I was 11 when my parents passed away. I stayed with my auntie in Kpenoe for just a year and then stayed with Mr. Christian Akpoe and his family in Accra. He took care of me and send me to school while I look after his two children. Every day, I had to wake up at 3:00 AM to make sure I do all my house chores, take my bath, bathe the kids and dress them up for school before school. When we close from school at 4:00 PM and I get home, I will work until 7 PM, then I will go and study and get to bed around 11 PM then wake up at 3 AM the following day.

After my JHS education, Mr. Christian said he could no more take care of me so he brought me back to the village to my auntie again. But then when I was with my auntie, I had to follow her to the market to sell calabash before we will get some small money and she would buy some school stationaries for me. Life was not easy for her so we even eat once a day in the house ( not even a square meal).

When my JHS result was out, my grades were good but there was no money to further my education and a Nigerian pastor offered to help me further my education, and, then again, I had to go and live with the pastor and his family. The pastor and his wife had four children. Before I go to school, I have to clean the house and do my house chores, make sure the children are properly taken care of before leaving the house for school. Because it is not every day that they have money, I sometimes walk to the house after school which is about 9 miles. By the time I get home, I get very tired but that does not stop me from studying as late as 10 PM before going to bed.

But the good news is, the favor of God locates me. He brought into my life divine helpers who were Amenyo Foundation. Because Amenyo Foundation was key anchor provider to my educational needs, I completed my high school without any other problem of finance.

Funds raised will be sent through FCCW to Amenyo Foundation (amenyofoundation.org), a 501 (c)(3) organization
