Multi-Tiered Suicide Prevention for Schools

ONLINE

Suicide Prevention in Elementary-Age Youth Training

Thursday, September 17th
10:00–2:00 PM ET
Online via Zoom

ABOUT THE TRAINING

Suicide Prevention in Elementary-Age Youth* introduces developmentally appropriate approaches to suicide prevention for young children. Participants will learn about current research, effective prevention and intervention strategies, screening and safety planning tools, and the role of social-emotional learning (SEL) in promoting lifelong wellbeing.

The training also includes facilitated planning time to help organizations strengthen suicide prevention practices in their work with elementary-age youth. Participants will:

- Identify best practices that promote mental health and well-being in elementary-age youth
- Explore research-informed approaches to suicide prevention for young children
- Understand key developmental considerations for prevention and intervention

Connecticut Partnerships for Hope and Healing Youth Suicide Prevention Initiative invites all Connecticut school and youth organization staff to attend.
