TAKING A STAND IS MOST IMPORTANT TO AMERICA'S PRESENT AND FUTURE

DALE PFLUG, BY PUBLISHER

Do we as a people have the courage to stand up and speak-out about the things that we are witnessing in this world. The conflict in the Ukraine is entering into its fourth week. The death-toll and destruction is increasing more each day. We are watching our people being inspired by the courage of the Ukrainian people to stand and fight for their lives, families, and freedoms regardless of the cost. And we wonder what Russia is really up to.

Our elected representatives seem all too anxious to enter into a war on some foreign ground, to spare no expense using their power for others. But when it comes time to defend our own borders, or to take a stand for what is being taught in our schools, there is a whole different cry. Keep the parents quiet! They don't have a right to speak out about what is being taught in our schools. The government is all too willing to bring down the iron hand of the law on its own citizens despite what is intended in our founding documents and speeches of our founding fathers. Freedom of speech seems a thing of the past.

It is strange that we are very anxious to criticize the Russians for crossing the borders of the Ukraine, and quick to bluster about what will happen if China attacks Taiwan, but seem to have little appetite for confronting the illegal immigrants flooding into our towns, the criminal gangs smuggling drugs across our borders, or the crimes and abuse of the law going on in our own country.

It seems we still have not developed an appetite for challenging the questioned results of our 2020 elections, and to even begin to speak-out about the fraud and corruption that certainly appears to be a continuing problem. The most fundamental issue with all these problems is to be willing to speak the truth and to take the actions necessary to defend our personal freedoms and the basic principles that made this nation great.

One of the important stories that has continued for over a year involves the alleged "insurrection" that occurred in our capital on January 6, 2021, when a group of citizens supposedly broke into the Capital Building. And, as the narrative goes, caused all kind of damage, and intimidated the legislators that were in session.

The stories coming out of that "crisis" and the on-going hearings that continue, include rumors of citizens being locked up in solitary confinement without any chance for timely trial. And just as like the fraudulent elections, the border problems and so many other challenges, we the people in this country do not seem to want to get involved.

But the truth is, there are many courageous Americans willing to stand up and speak out. We just don't often get to hear those inspiring stories.

In this edition of the Heartland Herald, we have the privilege and opportunity to hear the story of one brave patriot that was, and still is, taking a stand for the truth and what is right. His name is Jeremy Brown and he is a Army Special Forces veteran that was in Washington, DC on January 6th. He is currently in prison in Pinellas County, FL and we have had the opportunity to interview him on radio from prison followed by receipt of his story, Don't Do Nothing. It is included in full, without editing, in the following article from Brown.

At the end of his article, Brown challenges Americans to avoid the very thing that is the deadliest of all. Not Doing Anything! So, I challenge you to read, then re-read Jeremy's story and prayerfully consider his most humble plea. And pass the story along to others.

The very future of this country depends on we the people of America taking the time to educate ourselves on key issues facing our nation today and to determine what the truth is. Don't be seduced by the lies that come from the politicians, the media spin-masters and all of those that have been able to get away with lying for all too long.

Take a stand for the truth and for doing all that you can do to ensure that your neighbors, families, and friends know what is true. Unless we have many patriots that stand up, inspired by the actions of people like Jeremy Brown, America is facing a very dark and sad future.

DON'T DO NOTHING

My name is Jeremy Brown. I am a 20-year retired U.S. Army Special Forces Combat Veteran. On January 5th and 6th, 2021, I was in our Nation's capital as part of an all-volunteer protective detail tasked with providing security for organizers and speakers at a legally-permitted political rally

On September 30th, 2021, I was arrested at home in Tampa, Florida by approximately 30 to 40 heavily armed Federal Agents and local law enforcement. They came in full force to serve a misdemeanor arrest warrant for being in an "unauthorized area."

These were no ordinary agents. They were agents working as part of the FBI's Joint Terrorism Task Force (JTTF). Oddly, in the nine months prior to that day, I had never been contacted or questioned by any investigators about this case. Stranger still, the arrest warrant and search warrant had only been granted one day prior. This, despite numerous members of my Protective Detail having been arrested many months prior. While this may sound unusual to you, I know exactly why it happened.

A month earlier, on December 9th, 2020, the exact same JTTF agents that arrested me, attempted to recruit me as a Confidential Informant (CI). Their "pitch" was intended to gauge my willingness to infiltrate law-abiding citizen groups that had no criminal history and certainly were not designated "terrorist groups." Having a healthy mistrust of Federal law enforcement, I recorded the entire "personal meet," as Special Forces referred to it on a battlefield. Of course, I declined to pursue any offer from the agents and went on my way.

A few weeks later, while standing next to the Presidential stage awaiting President Trump's address, I was contacted by phone from the same JTTF agent. I explained where I was and what I was doing. So, on January 6th, 2021, they were well aware of my location and reason for being there.

On the 7th of January I texted that agent with a video of the murder of unarmed female Air Force Veteran, Ashli Babbitt, by a Capitol Police Officer and told him, "here is a contact report for you!." He acknowledged watching the video with a "Wow...." That was the last direct communication I had with that particular agent or the JTTF, even though I made multiple attempts to email them. That is, until the day they arrested me nine months later.

In the days and weeks that followed the events of January 6th, I was disgusted and appalled at the blatant lies that were coming from the media, politicians, and the Department of Justice. In particular, it was FBI Director Christopher Wray's testimony on the House floor that made me realize I had to go public with what I knew. I contacted a friend of mine who had a voice in independent media and asked if he would be willing to help me go public. Brandon Gray, a true American Patriot, was ALL IN! On March 5th, 2021, he conducted a two hour interview with me exposing the recording of the JTTF's recruitment along with my professional assessment of it. That interview can be seen in its entirety at JustAnotherChannel.com under the title, "Green Beret vs FBI."

Jeremy Brown and
The Purple Heart

I went public to counter the false government narrative and expose the truth to the American people. I knew I was making myself an FBI target, but I had sworn an oath to the U.S. Constitution so the choice to speak out was an easy one. That interview was seen by millions of people. Over 30 more would follow. For weeks Americans trolled the Twitter page of the FBI Field Office in Tampa, Florida by posting the interview on their page. After people posted it, the FBI would remove it, and others would repost it. This went on for some time. It became public knowledge that the FBI's failed CI recruit had become an outspoken "whistleblower" exposing the agents' actions prior to January 6th. However, as I suspected would happen, the public's interest in the story waned, especially since not one major media outlet covered it. It seemed that the tried-and-true media tactic of "ignoring me into oblivion" was going to serve the FBI well, once again. But, NOT SO FAST!

In mid-June, a major investigative article was released by Darren Beattie of Revolver.news that provided new evidence and insight, exposing the FBI's potential involvement staging the events of January 6th. The article also uncovered FBI ties to another "plot" that had FBI fingerprints all over it. The fake Michigan Governor kidnapping plot seemed to be a dress rehearsal for January 6th. It targeted a pro-Constitutional group claiming they were crazed "Far-Right Militia." Problem was, most of the "players" turned out to be FBI informants or actual agents. Ooopsie!

The new interest in my story lasted from late June through August. Only this time there was fresh perspective and a better understanding of the "Big Picture" thanks to seven months of additional investigations, reports, public outcry, and personal videos and accounts.

I shared my first-hand account, enhanced by professional opinion based on 20 years of Special Operations experience, some of which while working with the JTTF and other similar agencies on foreign soil. These interviews clearly got the attention of the FBI. Almost immediately a few of my friends began getting contacted by the FBI. Some of them were even questioned and threatened with being charged with crimes. Was the topic of discussion the events of Jan 6? Nope. They wanted details about Jeremy Brown.

My only sister was personally contacted on a brand-new cell phone number by the very agent that was in the recorded recruitment meeting. He didn't call to ask her questions about Jan 6, he called to tell her the FBI/DHS was "concerned" that I had been "radicalized" and may even be "suicidal." This was tragic since our younger brother had taken his own life in late 2018. Needless to say, my sister and mother took this extremely hard. When my sister told me, I attempted to contact the agent via his official Government email multiple times in hopes of addressing his concerns but received no response.

In mid-September my girlfriend of nearly eight years and I were on the verge of selling her home in preparation for our retirement plans to become full-time RVers. We were hitting the open roads with our two Australian Shepherds, Liberty and Ranger. We couldn't wait to explore the beauty of America while visiting friends and family along the way. The plan kicked off with the purchase of our first RV in October, 2020, well before the FBI entered our lives. The home sale was to be finalized on October 2, 2021. The JTTF had other plans for us.

On September 30th, the day before my 47th birthday and three days prior to the close on the sale of the home, I received an early morning phone call from that same FBI agent who tried unsuccessfully to recruit me. With a fake "Hey Buddy" tone, he left a voicemail stating he had heard we were moving and just wanted to see how I was doing.

Of course, I didn't return the call, but I did send the voicemail recording to numerous friends and warned them that "they" were probably coming to get me soon. Later that afternoon, at approximately 4pm, they came just before we were leaving to donate clothes and housewares to the Salvation Army.

In what my girlfriend estimated to be between 15 to 20 vehicles, a swarm of tactical vest-clad federal agents surrounded our property and arrested me. Without even reading me my rights, they handcuffed me and put me in their unmarked SUV. Along with the misdemeanor arrest warrant, the ATF was there with a search warrant for our property and RV. Evidently, when one is accused of being in a "restricted area," nearly 1,000 miles away, nine months prior, the ATF is necessary to conduct the search.

Despite my repeated requests to see the warrant, they refused claiming there were just "too many pages." After a few minutes, I was whisked away by the very same two agents that just eleven months prior had wanted me to work with them.

Ultimately, the FBI and ATF spent five-and-a-half hours searching our property and RV. That's three times longer than the 90-minutes the government claims they spent securing and clearing the U.S. Capitol grounds on Jan 6th. After this exhaustive search, they only managed to find a single inventory sheet of property that they felt was worthy of seizing. Part of that list were legal weapons recently purchased by my girlfriend, legal ammo, military gear, and manuals that were never even in D.C. Most disturbing of all, they seized the 5'x8' American flag I flew regularly behind our RV. How dare a U.S. Special Forces retiree have an American flag!

As I write this account on December 30, 2021, I mark my 92nd day of being held in the maximum-security section of the Pinellas County Jail as an FBI whistleblower and Political Prisoner. To date, these are the crimes the FBI and Department of Justice are guilty of committing under Title 18 U.S. Code, Section 242, Deprivation of Rights under Color of Law:

1. Violations of Article 1 of the Bill of Rights by criminalizing Free Speech and peaceful assembly for attending a permitted rally on public grounds.
2. Violations of Article 2 of the Bill of Rights by passing and enforcing unconstitutional gun laws that violate the letter and intent of the "shall not be infringed" clause.
3. Violations of Article 4 of the Bill of Rights by deceptively obtaining an unreasonable and illegal search warrant by lying to the issuing judge. When asked by me and my girlfriend to produce the warrant at the time of arrest, they refused. One agent was even recorded stating, "We don't know what we are looking for...yet." They should look for a copy of the Constitution and read it.
4. Violations of Article 5 of the Bill of Rights by not reading me my rights prior to arrest and questioning. They are currently still depriving me of my life, liberty, and property without due process of law.
5. Violations of Article 6 of the Bill of Rights by making sure nothing is speedy, attempting to deny me access to any of the evidence against me, by denying my right to a public trial by claiming everything is "sensitive" or "highly sensitive," yet leaking information to media outlets such as the Daily Beast who had my search warrant before I did. They are denying me the right to "face my accusers" by citing numerous "unnamed witnesses," many likely to be FBI informants. Because I am locked away in jail, I do not have complete access to witnesses in my favor and all my contacts with legal counsel are on monitored systems.

So far, I have been denied access to my attorney six times due to "COVID."

6. Most egregious are the violations of Article 8 of the Bill of Rights by denying me bond and keeping me locked in maximum security.

All illegal acts by the FBI and DOJ are meant to silence me and keep me from exposing their lies and corruption. Their fake charges and overzealous arrest were meant to intimidate not only me but also the American people. They think that this illegal imprisonment will break my will and allow them to coerce me into pleading to a crime I did not commit, or that will bolster their false narrative of Jan 6. But how did we get here?

As a nation we have taken our eyes off the prize of Liberty and lost our way. Our families, our neighborhoods, our churches, our schools, and our Nation have fallen into the evil trap of complacency. We have trusted "someone else" to solve every issue. We can deny it or even blame our neighbors, but each of us is guilty. If we hope to restore our liberty, our families, and our Republic, we are going to need God's help.

There is nothing new under the sun. We must look back on history for answers to the question, "Where does this lead?" Or "How does this end?" What are the outcomes of unchecked, unrestrained tyranny? The poet Martin Niemöller speaks of the horror of Nazi Germany. Aleksandr Solzhenitsyn recounts the terror of Soviet Russia. Whether it is Mao's China or the tribal slaughters that plague Africa, evil always finds a way to creep into power, then subject humans to bondage and death. How? Because "the only thing necessary for evil to triumph is for good men to do nothing." – Edmund Burke

But that same history reveals to us the solutions to this human cycle of Liberty and Bondage. How far will tyranny push? "As far as you let it," so said Thomas Jefferson. "How do we push back," you may be asking. Mr. Jefferson had an answer for that as well: "It does not take a majority, but an irate and tireless minority, keen on setting brushfires of liberty in the souls of men."

As I sit here in my jail cell being denied justice and my Constitutionally protected, God-given rights, I wonder, "Is anyone irate or tireless enough to save our Republic? ... Will our children and our children's children wonder what it was like to be free?"

If you're reading this, are you irate? Tireless? Are you willing to risk it all to set brushfires of Liberty in the souls of men? Are you willing to risk everything? Or will we just wait for some other "good men" to come along and do that "something?" The time to look in the mirror and answer that question is NOW! Trust me, the time to fight is NOT after the tyrant locks you in a jail cell.

Here is the GOOD News. God promises us he will give us victory over evil whenever and wherever it raises its ugly head, but ONLY if we stand up, face it head-on, and rebuke it with faith AND action. Look at the example of young David when the evil Goliath stood daily on the battle line, threatening, taunting, and mocking King Saul's people. They all stood by in fear and did nothing, asking themselves, "How can we defeat this warrior, he is bigger, stronger, and more powerful than us. Who can challenge him?" It was young David, a boy who believed in God's promise of protection. A young boy that stepped forward to face the giant warrior. David wasn't even big enough to wear the King's armor, but he had courage and faith in what was right. When will we find our courage to face our Giants? When will we speak up and take action to stand against tyranny? We can no longer stand to the side like cowards asking, "Who will stand and fight this Giant?" We must be Americans who say, "Here I am. Send me)

My name is Jeremy Brown and I am a January 6th Political Prisoner being held in the very country I spent my entire adult life defending at the highest level I could achieve. As a Green Beret I am trained and prepared for this and as an American I was born for this. I will fight until my dying breath before I surrender one letter of my Liberty. I am only one man, but if I'm the only man, so be it! I know there are millions like me and so I ask you, are you ready to light brushfires of Liberty in the souls of men? Then don't do nothing!

BIDEN'S BORDER CRISIS: SOVEREIGNTY THAT SHOULD BE RESPECTED IS OUR OWN

By Chris Wright, the Daily Skirmish

The Democrats are suddenly head-over-heels in love with national sovereignty. When asked why Americans should care about Ukraine, the White House Deputy National Security Advisor said, "Because it goes to a very fundamental principle of all nations, which is that our borders should be inviolate, that our sovereignty should be respected." Nancy Pelosi is pushing a new bill called the Defending Ukraine's Sovereignty Act to guarantee "Ukraine's sovereignty, independence and territorial integrity." Too bad these Democrat fools don't feel the same way about their own country.

To them, sovereignty doesn't matter when it comes to the U.S. southern border. Sovereignty can take a hike. Border agents encountered a record 178,840 illegal aliens in December, thanks to Joe Biden's open borders policies. This added to the record 2 million illegal aliens encountered at the southern border last year. The number coming from beyond Central America is up 4-fold. Deadly fentanyl coming across? No problem. Military-age males from terror-prone countries lost in the shuffle? It's nothing to worry about. Reconquista, baby? We deserve it, sovereignty be damned.

This is the way the Democrats and the Biden administration think. Our open southern border is a product of their closed minds. To them, it's ideology first, not America first. What was it our DHS Secretary said recently? Just because somebody is in the country illegally doesn't mean they should be deported. They get to stay, under the current regime. 'Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion' trump national sovereignty any day, in the Secretary's view. All bow down to the new god of Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion. Put your ideological blinders on; equity and inclusion for foreigners is the only thing worth thinking about.

But here's what fealty to the new god has wrought just recently: Illegal aliens can present their deportation and arrest warrants as acceptable forms of identification to board domestic flights. How insane is that? Just as insane as California loaning millions of dollars to illegal aliens to keep their businesses afloat during the pandemic, not to mention letting them open businesses in the first place.

A seventh-grader in Connecticut died of a fentanyl overdose in a school gymnasium. I blame the Biden administration. A Muslim from Britain got a tourist visa and attacked a Jewish synagogue in Texas. Apparently, he was not in U.S. databases despite being on a U.K. terrorist watch list. Again, Democrats are to blame. The Obama administration erased important terrorist databases. (Phil Haney, you are not forgotten.) Joe Biden had ended the more rigorous vetting of visa applicants ordered by former President Trump which had emphasized data sharing with foreign countries.

That's what happens when you don't care about border enforcement or your own sovereignty. Things are so bad under Biden, a candidate for Arizona Attorney General who lives 90 miles from the border is telling her kids, if intruders come into the house, shoot them. This is what happens when you let your country be overrun.

No American should have to live like that. So, if you crazy Democrat open borders fools are gonna yak about sovereignty, kiss me like you mean it.

ANOTHER WEAPON FOR TRUTH!

By Chaplain R.T. Byrum

It shouldn't come as a surprise that China's release of arguably the most disastrous bio-weapon in history has become a racist attack if anyone brings up the subject. After all, Covid and all of its gained function mutations has proved to be the Socialist Left's answer for a "Crisis that should not be allowed to go to waste."

Not only was the focus turned away from the crimes of the Biden syndication, but billions of tax payer money flew into the coffers of Big Pharma and their stockholders. Makers of masks, resuscitators, Covid testing kits, needles and hospital supplies dipped deep into the cookie jar.

It was reported that medical facilities and doctors that accepted patients received federal payments if they listed their treatment and even deaths as a Covid event even if their deaths were co-morbid with another cause.

Multiple sources allege ties to Wuhan Lab (the sources of Covid's gain of function) to U.S. based organizations including a university where the first experiments on bat virus began.

A recent lawsuit, heavily documented, has been filed against familiar names like Dr. Fauci, Debora Birx M.D., Bill and Linda Gates and their foundation, George Soros, et al, and known organizations like CDC, NIH, and Big Tech web companies that censored anyone who spoke out against what was happening to our freedom.

The fake news media willfully went along with spreading lies and censoring truth, apparently ignorant of the fact that their usefulness ends if communism wins.

How quickly the world leaders like Biden, Canada's Trudeau, France's Macron and the heads of many other European Governments seized on the opportunity to impose mandates of social distancing, vaccinations, masking, etc.

Churches, schools and businesses were locked out. Family gatherings were forbidden. Supply lines of food and fuel were severed. Jobs, houses and transportation were all affected or even lost.

Well, thanks to parents who stood up to school boards, truckers who convoyed to bring traffic to a standstill, new conservative websites and even freely speaking newspapers like the one in your hands...tyranny and tyrants are being pushed back.

But that's just the beginning. Those of you who are not being victimized by lies and evil-doers are pursuing the facts of what you see and hear. Now is the time when you must arm yourself with the truth and be unafraid to speak up.

One of the most important things that you can do right away is to write, call and/or email your local, state and federal representatives. Their greatest fear is to lose financing and re-election and that is your greatest weapon. Let them know their actions are not hidden any more thanks to the social media and brave whistle blowers.

The next and most effective weapon of truth is to vote intelligently. Don't believe the propaganda in campaign ads or mailers without checking trusted and non-biased sources. Then vote out those who have broken their oaths to defend the Constitution and to fairly represent those who gave them power.

If you can be a poll watcher or can knock on doors or even write opinion pieces for your local paper, truth can win back America's greatness.

One more thing: if you are out shopping and pick up a product that is not needed for your health or safety, and it says Made in China, then put it back and look for one that says Made in America.

If 100 million Americans deny China even one dollar per day in sales, imagine the power we have as people who know the truth is very, very near.

REMEMBER WHEN THE LEFT WAS AGAINST SLAVERY?

BY KAREN KATALINE

Along with their endless demagoguery about racism in America, Liberals and the Left have had an obsession with slavery.

Those in the grievance business have even "progressed" to blaming all white people for slavery in America, which ended over 165 years ago.

These discussions usually lead to debates about whether the civil war was fought over slavery or states rights, whether people whose ancestors came to America in the 1900's ought to be blamed for what the country did before they got here.

For that matter, should anyone alive today be culpable for sins they personally did not commit? The use of their family origin and ancestry to demonize and persecute them is the very essence of racism isn't it?

If it made a bit of sense to punish the offspring for the crimes of their grandparents and great-great grandparents, why aren't our prisons full of them?

The cult-like Left has worked hard to keep black people in the psychological enslavement of perceived victimhood to continue whipping up hatred and chaos for everyone in our country. Their strategy is always the same: Create or escalate a problem to justify the solution that was their real agenda all along.

Their solution is always to force more and bigger government on everyone to amass greater political power for themselves and less power and prosperity for everyone else.

They add even greater insult to our injuries by claiming this is all because they care so much about us—more than anyone else. They have crowned themselves benevolent dictators. Of course, everything they demand that we do is for our own good.

What is slavery at its core? Along with the evil notion that one human being can be "owned" by another and be forced into involuntary servitude, it is the equally evil notion that one human should be able to take the God-given right of autonomy and free will from another. The latter is necessary to create the former.

Right now, today, the Democrat Party which is controlled by the radical Left is engaged in making everyone think it is not only socially acceptable to use force to control the masses, but it is morally wrong to protest!

Using fraud and endless fear-mongering about "public health", they are working harder than ever to put individual liberty out of favor. After decades of lecturing us all about slavery, they seek to do exactly that—enslave people!

How foolish and naive for those who happen to agree with them about one thing today, to believe they will be saved from enslavement about something else tomorrow.

From free speech to women's sports, from being "anti-corporation" to even littering, today's left has made a complete about-face on just about everything they once claimed to believe so vociferously. Now, they have unmasked themselves as being the ones who are pro-slavery.

"I am persuaded that a firm union is as necessary to perpetuate our liberties as it is to make us respectable." – Alexander Hamilton

THE CULTURAL INVOLVEMENT OF THE CHURCH IS IMPERATIVE

By Cheryl Pflug, a Watchman and Intercessor

In last month's article "Revolution", Tom Gilson wrote "There must a change in how many of us think about our homes and churches." They are buildings of purpose as centers of gathering, of rest and refuge, places for growth and love, and of healing and instruction in the ways of God. But things must change in the way we protect them.

Our gatherings serve as centers for teaching the gospel of salvation and providing instruction in the ways of the Kingdom of God and now, they must also be centers of Cultural Revolution.

Now, we must recognize the need for the Church to rise up and defend our Christian homes and families. We must rise up to the challenge our children face every day among their peers and to equip them to stand in the truth they've received.

It is Imperative that our churches take seriously the need to mount a counter-revolution against the forces that threaten our national discourse. Our fellowships, homes and the most vulnerable among us are being assaulted daily by aggressive lies.

Only the church in America has the power to mount the spiritual revolution we need to lead this nation in the right direction. Is that a part of our mission?

Yes, it is, if we are to fulfill our role as salt and light to a dying generation. We have been passive and recalcitrant not to more aggressively counter the lies that confront our families daily. We are to love the world – so tell them the truth!

All we need do is tell the truth - where we live and where we fellowship and not be moved by the storm of bullying naysayers.

The stand against evil required of the church in America is going to require a revolution of our hearts, through Christ.

We don't necessarily have to go out and confront the world. We just need to live and stand in the truth of the gospel and our way of life wherever we find ourselves. The world has come into the church to confront us, not the other way around.

The ball is in our court, so to speak. What will we do? Courage to live and tell the truth in Christ will be an example that will reverberate through our families and churches, and into all of culture.

We must believe what we hear, preach it, and be prepared to defend it. It's the church's responsibility to promote the truth about God's plan for man within the church, our families, our forms of education, our forms of government - everywhere. And we must do this as an act of love and spiritual warfare. It is our responsibility and reasonable service.

This is not some bland religious thing. Do not think of it as church as usual. But this is not really unusual. It's just that things have gotten very real in America. Much of what we inherited has been lost. Much of the work our church fathers thought of as normal has been left undone by our current generations. We're just catching up with our responsibilities.

Men of the Church, you must see yourselves as guardians and as warriors, teaching truth, holding lies at bay, praying and living and teaching the revolutionary life in Christ. Yes, we must change how we think of our homes and churches and even our schools. If the schools won't change, we must start our own schools.

It starts with us, and our own commitment to following Christ into a nation that's rushing pell-mell into violent, destructive rebellion. We've let the rebellious, the woke, the left have its way too long.

Jesus Christ was always a revolutionary figure. He will lead and sustain us as we walk together as children of the Way. He's called us to be more than conquerors; He's called us to be salt and light in this ever-darkening world, the head (leading the way) and not the tail (being tossed to and fro by others who have supplanted God's leadership). He's called us to be sons and daughters of the Most-High God. Let's represent Him!

A REPUBLIC, NOT A DEMOCRACY RUN BY MOB RULE

Excerpt of article in America Out Loud by Karen Schoen

The goal of the Marxist-Left is to keep the American people in a constant state of fear. Once you dumb people down in school and people don't learn how to think, use common sense, logic, and reason they become prey for the cowardly Globalists, Communists, Fascists, RINOs, and the Marxist Democrat Party. They are freedom's enemy.

Their plan has been in the making for decades. People don't want to volunteer to give up freedom. So, to win, the Globalists must control the media and lie. We will lose if we refuse to address the enemy and call them out by name. We may win battles here and there, but they will win the war because they go unchallenged.

The Midterms will determine the level of freedom that Americans are willing to give up. Therefore, the Globalists will be on high alert to demonize Americans, MAGA, and anyone they view as in their way. You will be hearing how the MAGA people are going to steal our democracy.

First off, America is a Republic, not a democracy. So, tell them they can have the democracy; we're keeping the Republic. A Democracy means mob rule. A Republic with representative government that guarantees equality for all individuals under the law. US Constitution Article IV - Section 4 - The United States shall guarantee to every State in this Union, a Republican form of government and shall protect each of them against invasion. (oops, a black eye to the open borders crowd.) The word democracy is not in the Constitution.

There is one thing that the Globalists, Communists, Fascists, RINOs, the Marxist Democrat Party will never be able to overcome in the 2022 election, and that is, there are more of us than there are of them!

They have stolen all the money (1% of the population controls 90% of the wealth); have devised a way to put corporations in line, controlling and censoring goods and thoughts, instead of analyzing risk assessment to the value of a corporation. The ESG (Environment and Social Justice Governance) score takes precedence in America now. They have destroyed America's energy, health-care, education, and small business sectors.

They lie endlessly and are trying their best to beat us into submission. However, judging by the crowds at Trump rallies, mandate demonstrations, and worldwide demonstrations like the Canadian Freedom Truckers rally, the mandate rallies in England, France, Germany and Italy, they will not bring their GREAT RESET to the world without a fight.

America is different than any other country in the world. The land and assets and riches of America belong to We The People, not they the government. What they are doing is outright theft. The greatest asset of America is We The People. We American people, earn our citizenship every day as we work and toil to make sure that our country always will be the shining city on a hill.

We live in a culture of pervasive obedience. People are giving up their personal agenda, even their ability to reason, out of fear and willingly adhering to the masses. What has recently been called "mass formation psychosis," aka Hegelian Dialectic, but you don't need a fancy term to see it; it's everywhere. We must conform!

We have a tremendous number of issues facing each one of us because everything is connected. What you do affects other people without you even realizing it.

Let's take a hard look at 2021, not the talking points that we hear. We all know what the disasters were. But what we are not putting together is who are these people? who put the policies together? and why do they want to destroy America?

Let's examine who they are and what their motives are.

Globalists – Think United Nations. They want to control the world. They have no allegiance to any country.

Notice, their program is NEVER to blame. To them the "common good" means, you give the government all your means of production and distribution of all goods and services. Their view of We The People is there are too many people in the world to control, so depopulation is the name of their game.

Their goal is to create the perfect droid who will behave like a human without pesky human traits like empathy or reason—no one to rise up in descent. You are just the birthing partner of the government.

Communism – The goal of all "isms" is to destroy any hope of individual thought or individual ownership. Globalists and Communists seek to suppress fundamental human rights granted by God, because they are atheists. Communists do not believe in God. Only government can grant you your rights. What will you lose? Gone are rights to property, freedom of the press, assembly, speech, movement, and religion. No wonder why they hate the US Constitution; Globalists nullified the 1st Amendment. "You will own nothing and like it." is their battle cry from Klaus Schwab, head of the World Economic Forum.

Communists cannot ever have opposition. Therefore over 100 million people who questioned or thought they might question were killed over the last one hundred years. Under Communism, the government is made up of criminal Globalists in both parties, who own and control everything.

"Global Sustainability requires the deliberate quest of poverty, reduced resource consumption and set levels of mortality control," – Professor Maurice King.

For the common good. How do you make people give up their dreams? You lie to them and use racism to divide them.

Fascism – Margaret Thatcher said, Socialism works until you run out of other people's money. Hence Fascism took root as the funding mechanism. Fascism is Capitalism in decay, – Vladimir Lenin.

Did you ever wonder why major corporations become “WOKE” so fast? It was not really fast. This plan used to keep corporations in line is called ESG (Environment, Social Justice, Governance). This scoring was introduced in 2015 to the banking community as a way to “assess risk” and control the banks. It is just being implemented now.

Public Private Partnerships—Where the public taxpayer pays and the private Partner gets the profit. Thank you, Rick Scott, for bringing PPPs to Florida. Once the government partners with corporations, regulations can be used to destroy competition. Legislators can then do some insider trading. You and I would go to jail if we did this.

Business scores points by forcing businesses to incorporate programs like Diversity, Inclusion, Equity (DIE) into their instructional programs. If they have low points, then loans, subsidies, government contracts, etc., will be no more. What do these globalists want? Everything you own!

THE FIRST CASUALTY OF WAR IS THE TRUTH – THE CURRENT WESTERN PROPAGANDA FOR UKRAINE IS EPIC IN SCALE

from theconservativetreehouse.com

All interested observers should be very wary of the information from media sources around Ukraine, there was a reason for that. Question everything. Take nothing at face value.

If you have never experienced the propaganda push surrounding war, the totality of the inbound “baloney” can be destabilizing, overwhelming and unnerving. It’s one of the reasons why CTH doesn’t share immediate information. Everyone has an agenda.

Everything we are seeing in U.S. media surrounding U.S. interests in Ukraine is a massive propaganda operation with the headquarters in the U.S. State Department and U.S. intelligence community. The sense of sympathy you are feeling in part of an intentionally manipulative operation from within this DC matrix.

The images, pictures, videos, speeches, soundbites, and the cinematography broadcast by U.S. media are all purposefully intended to create a very specific outlook within the American people toward the issues in Ukraine. The leftist United Nations, and the leftist U.S. State Dept. will work together in this just like they have done in the prior examples (Ukraine 1.0, Libya, Egypt, etc.).

It is very easy to become a victim of psychological warfare intended to manipulate our opinions. The neo-cons, war promoting agents working on behalf of the UniParty and the collective globalist interests, are all united in their effort.

Unfortunately, almost everything being transmitted from corporate news into our psyche is part of a battle for your mind. The goal is to create a self-fulfilling prophecy. This is why people who are familiar with these types of tactics often tap-out when the drumbeats get loudest.

The White House, which means the total globalist effort, tipped their hand earlier last week when they defined “strategic power” and their outlook toward winning the battle for the mind. Everything is about writing a script, creating a narrative, building a “better story,” where the globalists are the heroes. In essence the “strategic power” battle is for your mind.

“Ultimately, the goal of our sanctions is to make this a strategic failure for Russia. Let’s define a little bit of what that means. Strategic success in the 21st century is not about a physical land grab of territory; that’s what Putin has done.

In this century, strategic power is increasingly measured and exercised by economic strength, by technological sophistication and your story – who you are, what your values are; can you attract ideas and talent and goodwill? On each of those measures, this will be a failure for Russia.”

Everything in modern warfare is story-telling. Question all of it. The stories of the 13 guards on an island telling the Russian naval ship to f**k off, yeah, it was a lie (turns out they surrendered). The “Ghost of Kyiv” pilot, the lady with the sunflower seeds, etc, now all recognized as lies and propaganda. And do not expect it to stop, because it won’t. Thus the nature of warfare for your mind.

THE WAY OUT

Excerpt from a speech by Larry P. Arnn, President, Hillsdale College

Here are two questions pertinent to our times:

- (1) How would you reduce the greatest free republic in history to despotism in a short time?
- (2) How would you stop that from happening?

The answer to the first question has been provided in these last two disastrous years. The answer to the second has begun to emerge in recent months. Both are worthy of study.

REDUCING A GREAT REPUBLIC TO DESPOTISM

To establish despotism in a nation like ours, you might begin by building a bureaucracy of great complexity that commands a large percentage of the resources of the nation.

You might give it rule-making powers, distributed across many agencies and centers inside the cabinet departments of government, as well as in 20 or more “independent” agencies—meaning independent of elected officials; thus independent of the people. This much has been done. The truth is that very few people not directly involved know how all this works.

And how many know how the Centers for Disease Control (CDC) came to be, under what authority it operates, and who is its head? Here is a clue: it is not Anthony Fauci.

Admittedly, this new kind of bureaucratic government would take—has taken—decades to erect, especially in the face of the resistance of the Constitution of the United States, but once it has been erected, things can happen very fast.

What, for example, if a new virus proliferates around the world? There have been procedures for dealing with such viruses for a long time. They begin with isolating the sick and protecting the vulnerable. But suddenly we have new procedures that attempt to isolate everybody. This is commanded by the CDC and by a maze of federal and state authorities, all of which see the benefit in getting involved.

The result was that large sections of our economy were closed for months at a time, and citizens placed under the equivalent of house arrest. This has not happened before. The cost, and not just in monetary terms, is beyond calculation.

To set up despotism capable of pulling this off you would need the media’s help. The media would need to be willing to suppress, for example, the fact that 50,000 doctors, scientists, and medical researchers signed the Great Barrington Declaration.

That document reminds people that you cannot suppress a widely disseminated contagious virus through shutdowns and mass isolation, and that if you try, you will work immeasurable destruction of new kinds—unemployment, bankrupts, depression, suicide, multiplying public debt, broken supply chains, and increases of other serious health problems.

Some of the signatories to this Declaration come from the most elite universities in the world, but never mind: their views do not fit the narrative propagated by the powerful. They have been effectively cancelled, ignored by the media and suppressed by Big Tech.

You would also need some help from businesses which are vulnerable to regulations, and mitigate the risk of regulatory harm. They play the game: they send lobbyists to Washington to make political contributions and hire armies of lawyers. If you’re big enough to play the game, there are plenty of advantages to be won. If you are not big enough, in that case, you’re on your own.

Amidst the unprecedented lock-downs, imagine there is an election, a time for the people to say if they approve of the new way of governing and of this vast, unprecedented intrusion into their lives.

Then say that in several states, the election rules and practices were altered by their executive branches—people in charge of enforcing the law—on their own, without approval by their legislatures. Say this brazen violation of the separation of powers takes place in the name of the pandemic. One does not need to know what percentage of votes in the final tally were affected to see that this is fishy. In some crucial states that was done.

Finally, to sustain this new kind of government, you would need to work on education. You might build a system of centralized influence, if not control, over every classroom in the land. These schools, poor but obedient cousins of the elite universities, are always up on the latest methods of “delivery” of instruction (we do not call it teaching anymore).

As far as content, you might setup a system of textbook adoption that guarantees to publishers a massive captive market but requires them to submit proposed books to committees of “experts,” subject of course to ‘political pressures.’

You might build a standard approved curriculum on the assumption that everything changes—even history, holding everything old, everything previously thought high and noble, in contempt.

Doing this deprives the student of the motive to learn anything out of fashion today. It is a preparation, not for a life of knowing and thinking, but for a life of compliance and conformity.

This is by no means an exhaustive account of what it would take to build a thorough going tyranny. Money and power in such a system would accrue to the same ruling class people who benefit from a system that would tend to get worse, because the exercise of unchecked power does not bring out the best in people.

But God has given us the wherewithal to save ourselves from that. So let us move to the second question posed above.

HOW TO DEFEAT RISING DESPOTISM

In answering the second question, I will tell two stories that are suggestive. The first took place in the small-town of Jonesville, Michigan. As in most places where the lockdowns were enforced, businesses were crippled or destroyed enmasse. Restaurants were chief among them.

One of the local restaurants is a 30-year-old diner called Spangler’s ‘Family Restaurant. Mitch Spangler is the proprietor. Mitch was purchasing the business from his mother, whose retirement depended upon revenues of the business. The life’s work of two generations was at stake. This is not to mention the more than 20 employees whose livelihoods are dependent on Spangler’s.

“Our employees are moms who have kids,” Spangler told the local paper. Our leaders in Washington treat it as a small thing when trillions are being thrown about. To the Spangler’s and people like them, their relatively small revenue streams are everything.

Mr. Spangler was not prepared to surrender all this. When a second lockdown was ordered by Michigan’s governor a year ago last month, he kept his restaurant open. The wheels of bureaucracy began to grind. Spangler was fined and threatened with forcible closure. But he persevered, never backing down, and his business did well. On a typical weekend, not only locals but supporters from the neighboring states of Indiana and Ohio lined up to show their support.

This may not seem on its face a big story, but it is important because it is a story about the nature of human beings and of citizens and of our rights.

The second story is more famous, but it too is about nature—which comes from the Latin word for birth. And this story, set in Loudoun County, Virginia, is about parents whose children are being subjected to critical race theory (CRT).

This involves lecturing children, especially those belonging to the non-preferred races, about the “structural evils” of which they are told they are part. Being taught alongside CRT is a distorted view of the history of our country, which true enough has its warts, but which surely has its glories as well—including glories about equal rights regardless of race.

Amidst statewide controversy over the teaching of CRT, the Loudoun County School Board also adopted a broad policy of recognizing “transgender” students.

Even before this, boys were permitted to use girls’ bathrooms, in one of which there was an assault and rape of a female student by a “gender-fluid” boy. The boy in question was then allowed to attend another school in Loudoun County, where he assaulted another girl.

This first girl’s parents were understandably outraged and, at the risk of being called narrow-minded, went so far as to complain to the school board. Groups of parents who had already been protesting CRT and policies promoting transgenderism joined in the complaint.

There was no violence at the school board meetings with one exception: law enforcement was summoned, and the outraged father of the assaulted and raped girl was bloodied and dragged out of one meeting.

The National School Board Administration called upon the Biden administration to investigate these protesting parents as potential perpetrators of “domestic terrorism or hate crimes.”

The rights of petition and assembly are protected in the First Amendment. Except for certain preferred groups, these rights today appear to have been repealed. U.S. Attorney General Merrick Garland intervened, instructing the FBI to investigate these parents and others around the country. All this provoked massive support, across Virginia and around the nation, for the parents of Loudoun County.

This support is not surprising. By nature, parents love their children and feel responsibility for them, and the people of Virginia reacted in a way reminiscent of the American colonists: they defeated the candidate for governor who took the position that parents should have nothing to do with their children’s education.

What do these two stories have in common? In both we see reactions against violations of our rights, rights that we have by nature as human beings. They show that we Americans do not seem to like that interference any better today.

In addition to the right to make a living and the right to raise our children, we have the right to participate in our government, even if we are not experts, and the right to look to the heavens and not to our ruling class for guidance.

We have these rights because we—every single one of us—were born with them sewn by God into our nature, and we cannot find our earthly fulfillment without them. If we put these facts together as a people, we will have recovered the understanding that produced the American Revolution. We will stop these current predations upon our rights. We will bring this overwhelming government back where it belongs, under the control of the people. The signs of such a movement are emerging. Pray they are enough.

FENTANYL: NO. 1 KILLER OF AMERICANS AGES 18-45
2022 WND News/ Bob Unruh

Although heroin and cocaine have long been the recreation hard-core drugs of choice, today hands-down, it’s fentanyl. A powerful synthetic opioid 100 times stronger than morphine and fifty times stronger than heroin.

Most fentanyl comes into the U.S. illegally from Mexico, after being compounded there from precursor compounds produced primarily from China.

“In the past two years, deaths from fentanyl have significantly exceeded deaths from Covid for this age group!” Reports USA Today, citing the latest CDC data. “The overdose cut across gender, race, socioeconomic status and geography.”

As the CDC explains, “there are two types of fentanyl: pharmaceutical fentanyl and illicitly manufactured fentanyl. Pharmaceutical fentanyl is prescribed by doctors to treat severe pain, especially after surgery and for advanced stage cancer. However, most recent cases of fentanyl-related overdose are linked to illicitly manufactured fentanyl, which is distributed through illegal drug markets for its heroin-like effect.”

Because of its extreme potency, the drug is cheaper for users, as well as more powerful, more addictive – and more dangerous.”

Because illicit fentanyl is often mixed with other drugs like heroin, cocaine, and methamphetamine, as well as made into pills resembling other prescription opioids, many users are unaware that their drugs are laced with fentanyl – which leads to many overdose deaths.

Currently, CDC reports, “over 150 people die every day from overdoses related to synthetic opioids like fentanyl.” Fentanyl is now the no. 1 cause of death of Americans 18-45.

James Rauh, founder of Families Against Fentanyl, told Fox News the crisis has seen deaths from the drug double in 30 states just since 2019, and he says America should declare the drug a “weapon of mass destruction” since it is, as he puts it, an “existential threat” to the nation’s security.

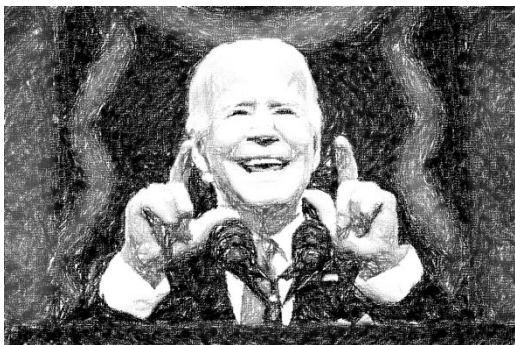

Rauh described the drugs impact on his son, who died of an overdose in 2015: “He didn’t have a chance. It was a dose that would have killed hundreds of people, sent by Chinese nationals through the mail” Rauh said. “The Chinese are supplying the precursors to Mexico - and Mexico (is) shipping this in unbelievable quantities.”

News Report by Bill Melugin @ FoxNews Texas. Dept. of Public Safety reports seizing 886 lbs of fentanyl so far this year, enough lethal doses to kill over 200 million people. The deadly opioid continues to pour into the country through the Southern Border.

PARENTAL RIGHTS IN EDUCATION BILL DEFENDED BY DESANTIS

Excerpt from www.flgov.com/Foxnews.com

Florida Republican Governor Ron DeSantis on Monday blasted critics of the parental rights bill in his state that Democrats have criticized as anti-LGBTQ, saying "people need to get out of their bubble" and talk to Floridians about how they feel about it.

During a press conference in Tallahassee, DeSantis declared, "This really was the year of the parent in the state of Florida," cheering the Republican-led state legislature for passing legislation affirming parents' rights in public education.

"We in Florida show a commitment to education, not to indoctrination, and I want to thank the Florida legislature for doing that," he said. "As the parent of three kids that are aged 5 and under, thank you for letting me and my wife be able to send our kids to kindergarten without them being sexualized." DeSantis was referring to the Parental Rights in Education—dubbed by Democrats as the "Don't Say Gay" bill—which bans Florida school employees or third parties from giving classroom instruction on "sexual orientation" or "gender identity" in kindergarten through third grade. Then any mention of gender or sex must be age appropriate throughout elementary school and beyond.

DeSantis on Monday dispelled the notion that businesses would avoid doing business in Florida because of the bill.

"People actually said that if you don't have classroom instruction on sexual matters in grades K through 3, that somehow businesses don't want to be in Florida," DeSantis said. "I think people need to get out of their bubble and actually talk to parents in this state, because they do not want this in kindergarten, first grade or second grade."

"We want our kids to be kids," he added. DeSantis is expected to sign the bill, which passed the state Senate Tuesday after passing the House last month.

Disney CEO Bob Chapek spoke out against the bill at the company's annual shareholder meeting, claiming it "could be used to unfairly target gay, lesbian, non-binary, and transgender kids and families."

The CEO later announced Disney would be donating $5 million to LGBTQ groups.

DeSantis slammed "woke" Disney after the CEO condemned the Parent's Rights Bill. He said there was "zero chance" he'd back down from supporting the legislation.

"You have companies, like at Disney, that are going to criticize parents' rights, they're going to criticize the fact that we don't want transgenderism in kindergarten in first grade classrooms," he continued. "If that's the hill they're going to die on, then how do they possibly explain lining their pockets with their relationship from the Communist Party of China? Because that's what they do, and they make a fortune, and they don't say a word about the really brutal practices that you see over there at the hands of the CCP."

"In Florida, our policies have got to be based on the best interest of Florida citizens, not on the musing of woke corporations," He added.

The bill has been dubbed the "Don't Say Gay" bill by Democrats who falsely claim it bans any discussion pertaining to being gay in the state's schools. But there is no such language in the Florida Bill and DeSantis said critics should, "Read the bill." He has remained unmoved by the unfair criticism while facing reporters, CEOs, and demonstrators. Good job, Gov!

MAN! I SWIM AS A WOMAN

By Brian C. Joondeph, M.D.

Shania Twain once had a hit song called "Man! I feel like a woman," recorded in 1997, which was a celebration of womanhood.

Twenty-five years later, women athletes are singing a different tune, one of dismay over competing against biological men.

What was once "girl power" is now simply horsepower, the benefits of male puberty and testosterone. I am referring to Lia Thomas, winner of the NCAA collegiate women's swim championship 500-yard freestyle event last week. But Lia wasn't always Lia and was born and grew up as a guy.

The story began last fall and, in brief, involves a University of Pennsylvania swimmer named Will Thomas, an unremarkable member of the men's team whose life and swimming career went on hiatus due to COVID. During his year off, Will became Lia and is now a member of the Penn women's swim team. While a mediocre men's swimmer, Lia is anything but as a women's swimmer. "UPenn trans swimmer, 22, sparks outrage by smashing women's competition."

Thomas, competing as a transgender, continued to dominate collegiate women's swimming. Then came the ivy league championships. Thomas still had the upper hand where she "Dominates 200-yard freestyle at Ivy League swimming championships and sets a new tournament record."

Next was the women's NCAA championships, where to no one's surprise, Thomas, a biologic man, crushed the field, winning the national championship in the 500-yard freestyle. Thomas also competed in the 200-yard freestyle, tying for fifth, still an impressive performance. She fizzled in the 100-yard freestyle, finishing 8th in the final, but her presence in the final, denied a spot to one of the women swimming in the consolation race.

Criticism ensued, predictably, as the Daily Mail noted with this headline,

Meet the REAL winner of the NCAA 500 yard freestyle: University of Virginia swimmer Emma Weyant who is an Olympic silver medalist hailed as a heroine on social media after coming in second to controversial trans-rival Lia Thomas.

This illustrates the trickle-down effect of Thomas competing and winning. The other competitors all move a step down, including Emma Weyant, an Olympic medalist, who under normal circumstances would be the NCAA champion, now in second place, not the champion that she would otherwise be.

Someone also missed out on competing in the finals, specifically the ninth-place finisher, who due to Thomas in the race, didn't make the finals, an achievement in and of itself in such a competition.

AN EYE FOR THE EVIDENCE

By tim Wildmon, AFA Journal

My friend, Frank Turek, wrote a book titled I Don't Have Enough Faith to be an Atheist. I don't either, Frank.

My dad tells the story of watching a special on PBS that looked at where life on planet Earth came from. After a couple of hours working backward using Darwinian evolution theory as a basis of understanding where we came from, the scientist came down to the most basic form of life – the cell.

The cell is pretty much universally agreed to be the basic structural and functional unit of all known living organisms. It is the smallest unit of life that is classified as a living thing and is often called the building block of life.

Even if you bought into the theory of evolution presented in the PBS show, there was still one major problem with how the program ended. It failed to say where the one living cell came from. And a fundamental law of science is that you cannot get life from nonlife.

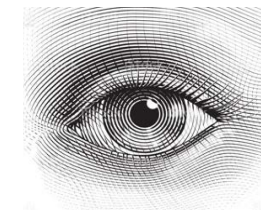

Whether someone who believes in the God of the Bible is one thing. And perhaps agnosticism is understandable. I can have respect for someone who genuinely says, "I don't know if God exists, but I am willing to consider the possibility and look at the evidence."

But for someone to just be an outright atheist, to declare with certainty that there is no God, doesn't seem intellectually plausible when you consider the marvel in the world around us.

The Bible in Psalm 53 is more direct. It reads: "The fool says in his heart, "There is no God."

Charles Darwin, often called the father of evolution, is best known for his work titled The Origin of the Species. In that book, he goes into great detail about the human eye. He writes:

To suppose the human eye, with all of its inimitable contrivances for adjusting the focus to different distances, for admitting different amounts of light, for the correction of the spherical and chromatic aberration, could have been formed by natural selection (evolution)

seems, I freely confess, absurd in the highest possible degree."

Darwin then goes on to say: "but it could happen." In other words, Darwin goes on to say it's absurd to say the eye could have been formed by evolution, but I believe it anyway. You can read that part for yourself, but it is painful to read because it is a tortured attempt to explain away what he had just admitted is "absurd to the highest possible degree."

Renowned scientist, Albert Einstein, named Person of the Century by Time magazine in 1999, was an agnostic. He did not believe in a personal God. However, he did say this:

Everyone who is seriously interested in the pursuit of science becomes convinced that a spirit is manifest in the laws of the universe – a spirit vastly superior to man, and one in the face of which our modest powers must feel humble.

I believe God created the heavens and the earth. And unlike Mr. Einstein, I do believe in a personal God, which is what Jesus Christ taught. The New Testament teaches that Jesus is the one and only mediator between God and man. That is to say that man cannot reach God without going through Jesus Christ. You can choose not to believe that, but it is the essential doctrine of the New Testament.

Jesus himself said in John 3:16-17, For God so loved the world, that He gave His only begotten Son, that whoever believes in Him should not perish but have eternal life. For God did not send His son into the world to condemn the world, but in order that the world might be saved through Him. John 3:16-17

“There’s Going To Be A New World Order And We’ve Got To Lead It!”

Excerpt of article by Michael Snyder, Washington Standard

Joe Biden just told the entire world that “a New World Order” is coming, and he insists that the U.S. needs to lead it! I know how wild that sounds, but Biden really did just say this. Joe Biden fully understands that “a New World Order” is a loaded term. For decades, prominent voices have been warning that the globalists intend to create “a New World Order” which will dominate the entire planet. And for decades, the corporate media and other apologists for the globalists have insisted that it is just a “conspiracy theory”.

But now Joe Biden is openly telling us that “a New World Order” is on the way, and he is also admitting that he wants the United States to lead it. Now that World War III has begun, I suppose that there is no point in hiding their intentions any longer.

But this is still pretty shocking. Other members of the Biden administration have been letting the cat out of the bag as well.

Just last month, State Department spokesman Ned Price openly warned that Russia and China “also want a world order”. China has reportedly given “tacit approval” for Russian President Vladimir Putin’s latest invasion of Ukraine, in the judgement of U.S. officials, as part of a joint effort to undermine the institutions that American and Allied leaders established to minimize conflict following World War II.

“Russia and the PRC also want a world order,” State Department spokesman Ned Price said Wednesday. “But this is an order that is, in many ways, destructive rather than additive.”

Isn’t that interesting? The State Department is openly framing this conflict as Russia and China vs. the western nations, and that is the exact alignment of powers that I have been warning about for years.

The war in Ukraine has brought this great struggle for control of the world to the forefront. You see, the truth is that Ukraine has been one of the New World Order’s pet projects. In 2014, they were able to successfully overthrow the democratically elected government of Ukraine and install a completely fresh pro-globalist government. And since that time, the globalists have sunk their teeth deep into that deeply suffering nation of 44 million precious people and have been using it as a testing ground.

If you would like to know what life would be like under “a New World Order”, just consider what is going on in Ukraine right now.

Just this week, the main opposition political party and 10 others were completely banned. Ukrainian President Volodymyr Zelensky said on Sunday that 11 political parties in his nation that are linked to Russia will be banned, The Washington Post reported.

In a speech posted online, Zelensky said that Ukraine’s National Security and Defense Council agreed to suspend the activities of the parties.

“Given the full-scale war waged by the Russian Federation and the ties of some political structures with this state, any activity of a number of political parties during the martial law is suspended,” Zelensky said during his address.

This would essentially be the equivalent of the Democrats banning the Republicans and kicking all of their members out of Congress. All in the of “fighting for democracy”, eh?

The Ukrainian government has also taken control of all television news outlets in order to fight against “misinformation.”

We love to criticize Russia for repressing dissenting views, but is it suddenly okay when we do it?

There is no way in the world that Zelensky would have made such moves without the full approval of Joe Biden and other western leaders. And, the corporate media in the western world is totally letting them get away with it.

Without a doubt, I do not want “a New World Order” that is led by Russia and China. But I do not want “a New World Order” that is led by western globalists either.

Like most people, I just want to be left alone, and I believe that the government should exist to guarantee our basic freedoms.

Now that Biden has made this public statement about “a New World Order”, fact checkers for the corporate media will once again rush to put out pieces insisting that “a New World Order” doesn’t exist, or that if it does it is there for our own good. And most Americans will soon forget that Biden said anything about it.

But the truth is that Biden knew exactly what he was saying, and this great struggle for global domination that he was referring to could easily lead to unprecedented global destruction.
