NO...you are not at the END of your ROAD. Oh, I know it seems to you that you are; But this BEND in your road is NOT the END of your road. That is unless you FAIL to make the correct turn that you're now facing. The truth is we all go down various roads at different times in our lives. Each road will take us to different places, with different faces and different seasons. So lift up your head and know that through it all... Jesus...The great Way-Maker...The One who makes a way out of no way...He has been there with you through your mountain top experiences; But He is also there with you now during the long hard valleys and the deserts that seems like they'll never end. Believe it or not in spite of what the enemy (devil & his demons) has meant for your evil...Yes to take you down and put you out with...God meant it all for your good. (Gen. 50:20) So rejoice...For this is NOT the END of your ROAD...It's just the BEND of your ROAD. Yes, you're now at the intersection that will take you on into the next season of your life!
