Don't ever allow your current or your past circumstances...To dictate the boundaries or the limitations of your greatest expectations. Just know that God will turn back the hands of time and He will recoup your losses, your hurts, your health and your disappointments as only God can do. Then He will cause good news to come to you even there in the valley of what others calls impossibilities...Bringing into view to you and for you an absolute undeniable divine appointment setting you up while sitting your opponents down. Just know that it matters not what it looks like in the natural; Because God is about to show up just in time for you...And He will kiss your natural with His SUPER thus making your impossibilities totally POSSIBLE and everyone will know that it only came about through...God's awesome SUPERNATURAL power and His amazing grace.
