

Announcing the SMDM Onsite Training Program

SMDM is pleased to offer onsite courses and speakers for panels and symposia in shared decision making and risk communication.

The overarching goal of this program is to disseminate the value and techniques of shared decision making and risk communication to clinicians, researchers and other stakeholders in settings that are convenient for those who are unable to attend SMDM meetings.

SMDM is often invited to offer the high-quality courses and symposia we offer at our annual meetings as onsite trainings for clinicians, researchers and other stakeholders who are unable to attend SMDM meetings. With the support of grant funding from the Hess Foundation, we are now pleased to be able to respond to these opportunities.

For more information about coordinating SMDM onsite courses and speakers for panels and symposia, please contact Jill Metcalf, Executive Director, at
