Coaching People with the Word

Let the word of Christ dwell in you richly as you teach and admonish one another with all wisdom, and as you sing psalms, hymns and spiritual songs with gratitude in your hearts to God. Colossians 3:16

The Coaching Practicum

Teaching and admonishing others to reconcile and resolve conflicts biblically is difficult. Yet God calls us to do so with godly wisdom.

The Coaching People Through Conflict Practicum from Ambassadors of Reconciliation prepares anyone – pastors, elders, teachers, administrators, parents – to guide people to reconciliation through one- on-one coaching. Almost everyone can benefit from this training, since all of us at times give advice to others on responding to conflict.

This training especially helps church leaders and reconcilers. The church is meant to be a place where its members can seek help in applying God’s message of reconciliation to their personal conflicts. This course prepares you for teaching and admonishing people biblically through coaching.

Ambassadors of Reconciliation™

A former participant shared: “When I first learned of biblical peacemaking, I thought it would change my ministry. It did much more—it changed my life!”

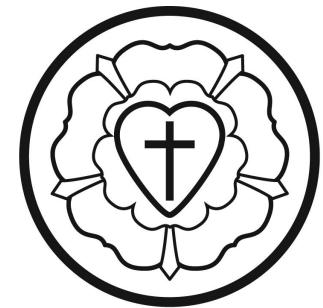

The Mediation Practicum

The Mediating People through Conflict Practicum prepares leaders—pastors, elders and other lay leaders to mediate disputes between parties in a biblically faithful manner. The practicum is presented in two intense days of practicing mediation skills. Your instructors will demonstrate specific skills and then you will practice parts of the mediation process. The first day you will practice parts of a mediation in exercises. The second day you will experience two longer mediation role-plays, both as a mediator and as a party.

A special feature of this training is one-on-one live evaluation from one of our instructors.
