Since its founding in 2000, Heitek Automation partners with suppliers that are leaders in a product segment and have a record of superior product fulfillment and customer technical support. Heitek's business strategy is focused on four key areas of automation services – solution development and consulting, whether in component delivery logistics or value-added system creation; design to meet specifications; assured fulfillment; and delivering technical support, training, and on-site resources as needed. For Festo products, Heitek will also provide customers with pneumatic panel building solutions. Heitek's customer base includes original equipment manufacturers, process and manufacturing operations, and system integrators.

"Our strategic goal has always been to partner with innovative manufacturers with superior automation products—and Festo is exactly that company," said Scott Heiling, President of Heitek Automation. "We
