

Danny Strong is an Emmy and Golden Globe-winning writer, director, actor, and producer. He is the creator, showrunner, writer, and director of the award-winning Hulu series Dopesick, starring Michael Keaton and Rosario Dawson. He was also the co-creator, executive producer, writer, and director for the hit FOX series Empire. He wrote the screenplays for the films Recount, Game Change, The Butler, Rebel in the Rye (which he also directed) and co-wrote The Hunger Games: Mockingjay Part 1 & 2. As an actor, he has appeared in major roles in several iconic TV shows and films including Billions, Buffy the Vampire Slayer, Gilmore Girls, Justified, Girls, and Mad Men. He has won two Primetime Emmy Awards, 2 WGA awards, a Peabody, a PGA award, a Golden Globe, the Pen Award, and the Scriptor Award. Most recently, he was nominated for the Critics' Choice, Golden Globe, PGA and his first DGA nomination for Dopesick.