

Juan David Sanchez Tello

Juan David Sanchez Tello is a biologist from Universidad del Rosario, with a disciplinary mention in ecology, biodiversity, and ecosystem services. He has experience in the sampling of ectomycorrhizal fungi. Juan has knowledge of software for data analysis and statistical tests. He is responsible, persistent, and willing to continue learning. Juan is able to integrate interdisciplinary groups, communicate and disseminate a given topic. He has good interpersonal relations and fast learner, thus facilitating teamwork, and has the ability to work in field or laboratory functions.