Common Ground

Regenerative agriculture helps heal the soil and the planet, itself. Farmers across the country are learning that moving away from chemical fertilizers and pesticides renews the land, produces more abundant harvests, and sequesters more carbon from the atmosphere – an effective and natural way to reduce greenhouse gases: a win-win-win.

We'll close with a short, upbeat, animated film, The Story of Solutions, guaranteed to send us all off with hope.

Sunday March 16, 2-4 pm

Unstitched: How the Fashion Industry Is Destroying the Planet

This solutions-based documentary looks at the fashion industry and the surprisingly profound damage “fast fashion” does to the natural world. The scale will rock you, but the strategies to solve the problem will inspire you - an optimistic look at the future, showing solutions and showcasing a range of change-makers.

As a bonus round, the lively animated short The Story of Stuff will show the (avoidable) pattern of overconsumption in our daily lives.

Sunday May 18, 2-4 pm

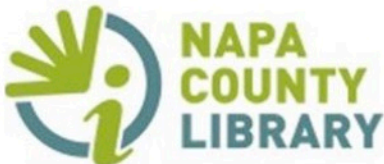

The Beaver Believers

This award-winning feature-length documentary shares the story of an unlikely cadre of activists in Wyoming who are working to restore the North American Beaver, that most industrious, ingenious, whimsical, bucktoothed engineer, to the watersheds of the American West. Fall in love with the largest North American rodent and learn why they build those elaborate dams – and why their teeth are orange (it's not because of poor dental hygiene).

A guest speaker from the “Abuelitos” organization will describe their on-going water restoration project in Napa.

Chris Malan, Executive Director of the Institute for Conservation Advocacy, Research and Education, will be on hand to add information and talk about her experiences with preserving natural areas in Napa County.
