Isakson Living and Peachtree Hills Place invite you to join us for an informative discussion with Toronto Star Investigative Reporter and Happily Ever Older Author Moira Welsh, Pioneer Network President and CEO Penny Cook, and Isakson Living Founder Andy Isakson. Isakson Living's COO Donna Moore will lead the panel discussion as we explore the culture change that is taking place in senior care and how it will improve the quality of daily life for our nation's seniors.

In her book Happily Ever Older, Moira profiles her research of the most innovative senior care communities throughout the world as she herself sought care for her aging parents. We are honored to have an entire chapter dedicated to our relationship-based household model of person-directed care upheld as an example for the future of what senior care could and should be.
