Guest Speaker Bios:

Bill Wilson is Director of Veteran Services at UNC Charlotte where he and his staff are responsible for the support and success of the military affiliated student body. They process GI Bill® benefits for the more than 800 GI Bill® benefit recipients (veterans and dependents alike), provide the Veteran Student Lounge for study and community, produce and provide programming directed to the veteran student community as well as insuring that the campus experience is a smooth and seamless transition for those choosing college after or during their service. Prior to joining UNC Charlotte, Bill held positions at James Madison University, University of Missouri-Rolla (now Missouri University of Science and Technology), and Michigan Technological University. Bill earned his BS from Longwood University and Master's degree from Texas A&M University.

Dr. James Igoe Walsh is Professor of Political Science at the University of North Carolina at Charlotte. He holds a PhD in International Relations from American University. His research interests include political violence and terrorism, human rights violations, and intelligence and national security. Dr. Walsh's book, Combat Drones and Support for the Use of Force, is available from The University of Michigan Press. His work has been supported by the Army Corps of Engineers, the Department of Homeland Security, and the Minerva Research Initiative.

Meeting Parking:
