Portions of the Cities of Madera, Chowchilla and Eastern Madera County have been designated as Opportunity Zones.

Qualified Opportunity Zones (QOZ) is a new benefit created with new tax reform legislation and is one of the largest incentives to taxpayers that we have seen in a long time. Although very complex in terms of timing, they are simple to set up and easy to maintain—absolutely worth the effort in terms of tax savings.

The opportunity zone program has the potential to be the largest community investment program in the country, by tapping into trillions of dollars in capital gains held by private investors to create a new source of economic growth for hundreds of lower-income communities around the country. Under this first round, opportunity zones have been designated in 18 states, including California. The list of designations includes 57 counties in California and 5 areas in Madera County.
