What is the Ignition Fund?

The Ignition Fund is a financial reserve that will be used to move initiatives forward without the delay of program-specific fundraising.

Progress from planning to implementation faster

Provide a greater opportunity for impact

Increase engagement in the process

Ten at the Top is a long-term strategic regional capacity builder and not an immediate programmatic service provider. Because of this, once an actionable plan has been incubated through TATT's collaborative process, a subject-specific partner must be found to lead and fund long-term implementation. This often results in a delay as projects attempt to move from incubation to action while resources are identified.

The proposed Ignition Fund would allow TATT to help jump start an effort and showcase it for future funding and partners. The Ignition process would ultimately be faster, more efficient, and more impactful. Through generous donations from regional partners, TATT will maintain a dedicated fund controlled by a committee within the TATT Board of Directors.

In consultation with organization staff, the committee will have the discretion to provide funds to projects that have gone through TATT's collaborative process and are at a stage where they are in need of funds to advance. The funding allotments will be determined based on project needs, anticipated impacts, and long-term ownership plans.
