

2019 John & Barbara Ferrera Ocean Science Lecture Series

Sponsor A Scientist

The John & Barbara Ferrera Ocean Science Lecture Series (OSLS) provides a community forum where the general public, students, faculty and staff gather to hear meaningful talks from FAU Harbor Branch Oceanographic Institute scientists about their most recent discoveries. Our 21st year of the OSLS will begin on January 9, 2019. Lectures will be given weekly through March and monthly during the rest of the year. The series provides extraordinary opportunities to learn, first hand, about the exciting and diverse research our scientists are doing.

In the coming year, FAU Harbor Branch seeks additional support to expand our scholarly offerings by inviting high-profile, distinguished scientists and engineers to join the 2019 lecture series. In addition to their public presentations, visiting scholars will meet with FAU Harbor Branch staff and students to discuss the technical side of their work. This will provide unique networking and learning opportunities for our staff and students during their visit.

Gifts to support these visits are being solicited with a minimal donation of $1,000. That amount will typically support all travel costs associated with the visit (i.e., air fares, car rental, hotel, food expenses) and honorariums. Donors for a lecture will be acknowledged at the beginning of the lecture and in the printed OSLS program.

If interested in making a donation, please contact: Anna Brady, Development Coordinator by calling 772-242-2216 or by email at bradyc@fau.edu. For further information on the lecture series, please contact Dennis Hanisak, Ph.D., Education Director and lecture series coordinator by calling 772-242-2306 or by email at dhanisak@fau.edu.
