

Memoir Writing as Healing Practice

with Dr. Jamie Marich author of You Lied to Me About God

Wednesday, April 9 @ 7:00 pm

First Presbyterian Church
28 East Park Ave, Columbiana OH

Sponsored by THE HUB

Join memoirist and trauma therapist Dr. Jamie Marich (she/they) for a free workshop on how pen, paper, prayer and a willingness to look into our own lives can help us process and heal. In their memoir, You Lied to Me about God, Dr.

Marich chronicles the harm caused by weaponized religion and describes how she discovered a healing faith wholly accepting of who she is: in her queerness, in her body, and in deep relationship to an expansive and loving God. The author of over 15 books and manuals, Dr. Marich is an internationally recognized specialist in the fields of trauma, dissociation, and addiction.

This workshop will appeal to anyone interested in writing, spiritual practices, or exploring their own vulnerability. Naming and processing spiritual trauma, especially for those who have been excluded from religious community, will be a specific focus.

For more info and to register:
www.columbianahub.org

Program is Free

Books will be available for purchase and signing

THE HUB builds spiritual community and promotes healing through the sharing of stories. THE HUB welcomes all stories, including those challenging traditional systems and structures. THE HUB welcomes all storytellers regardless of religious tradition, race, class, gender, ethnicity, political leaning, or sexual orientation. Participants are requested to commit to the discipline of respectful listening.

