Great day! However, there were 3 registration volunteers, and 2 would have adequate. The number of load out volunteers was about right. Some healthy food choices would have been welcomed.

new venue worked great - need to leave aisle behind EMITT booths to access mens room - need monitor at entry side restroom doors - common restroom with double entries gives students and escape route

Loved the event venue. Very well organized. High- quality experience for the students.
Well-done!

I only wish that the Harlem and other local students had the same opportunity, lots of effort on the companies on display could be accessed by more students.

I was disappointed that many of the teachers did not take the opportunity to engage and were generally not active in directing stragglers into the booths. The overall quality of the exhibitors continues to improve and was excellent this year.

I am not sure if the students understood they were supposed to be in each academy and stay at one booth only. There were a lot of students lining up to move to the next academy before it was time. I know it is hard for teachers to keep them organized.

This year was the best year I have participated. The layout is better and the students seemed much more engaged. RPS staff did a great job of making sure the students were engaged.

Last academic year I was a Capstone mentor at Auburn and Roosevelt and a Capstone presentation judge at Jefferson. I have volunteered this year for Roosevelt EAST and to be a Capstone mentor at Roosevelt.
