HPED Welcomes Mane Line 2608

HPED is pleased to announce that the former Joyce's Salon, located at 2608 E County Line Road in Haverford Township, is continuing under new ownership and with a new name: Mane Line 2608. New owners Jenine Crossan and Kelly Johnson, who took over January 1st of this year, previously worked at Joyce's Salon for over 36 years and always planned to stay through retirement. Their love for their work and customers made the decision for them to purchase and continue the business an easy one.

Both Jenine and Kelly are Delaware County natives – Jenine grew up in Ardmore and Kelly in Drexel Hill – and they have raised their families in the area. Working at the salon for so many years, the other stylists and clients have become like family to them. They consider themselves "The Cheers of beauty salons" and seeing Kelly and Jenine personally greet each guest, as well as neighbors walking down the street, this seems an accurate description. They have decided to keep the "Joyce's Salon" awning to pay homage to their history in the community and to show that the salon has survived the pandemic.

While Mane Line 2608 has a number of long-term clients, Jenine and Kelly noticed that the surrounding neighborhood has more young families and they hope to grow with this new community. Mane Line 2608 services everyone from baby's first hair cut through senior citizens. If you would like to schedule an appointment or learn more about Mane Line 2608, you can visit their website at https://www.maneline2608.com/ .

Due to the pandemic Mane Line 2608 did not have the Grand Opening they hoped for and are planning a celebration for September. Make sure to follow their social media to learn more.
