

Lexington Field & Garden Club presents

"Fragrance in the Garden" with Joanne Pearson

Location: Follen Church, 755 Mass Avenue, Lexington

Wednesday, September 11, 2024

9:30 AM Refreshments, 10 AM Meeting

Joanne Pearson has been a professional photographer for over 25 years and formerly was a Massachusetts registered landscape architect where she practiced for 12 years. She regularly lectures on gardens and photography, seeking to inspire and educate her audiences with her beautifully illustrated presentations.

In her lecture, accompanied by a vibrant slideshow, Joanne will explore the fascinating ways plants use scent to attract pollinators and to deter harmful insects; specify plants, shrubs and trees with fragrant flowers and foliage; and discuss where to place them in the landscape to maximize our enjoyment of the fragrance throughout the garden.

This event is Free!

Street parking is available along Mass Ave and Follen Rd. Carpooling might be advisable.
