Take Charge of Treatment for Your Child with Asperger's (ASD)

Come and hear from the authors

Take Charge of Treatment for Your Child with Asperger's (ASD) combines personal examples, professional guidance, and practical tools to help solve typical challenges that parents with ASD face. Parents learn how to become effective case managers and lead their child to reach maximum potential at home, at school, and in the community.

Cornelia Pelzer Elwood is the mother of two sons, one of whom has Asperger's Syndrome. She received her BA from Vanderbilt University, trained as a life coach, and earned a Certificate in Autism Spectrum Disorders from Antioch University New England. She has many years of experience collaborating with her son's providers and interacting closely with his schools. She is based in the Boston area of Massachusetts.

D. Scott McLeod, PhD is the Executive Director of the Massachusetts General Hospital Aspire Program (www.massgeneral.org/children/Aspire), clinical instructor of psychology for Harvard Medical School, and clinical psychologist for individuals with autism spectrum disorders and their families in his private practice in Wellesley, Massachusetts, USA. He obtained his PhD in clinical psychology from Boston University.
