FROM THE TEACHERS:

Laptops: We are having quite an issue with laptops not being charged fully at home and students not bringing their charging cords to school. This causes delays for the students when taking tests and is frustrating to all involved. It also results in a Yellow Card for not being prepared for school. Students must charge their laptops overnight in order to have a full charge to last through the entire school day. It is critical that they check to make sure the laptop is charging when they plug it in and check to see that it has 100% charge when they unplug it. Any issues with the laptop not charging must be brought to the help desk immediately. If your child does not have a charging cord due to loss or damage, you must pay to replace it. Please reach out to the helpdesk@serraschool.org if your child's cord needs to be replaced.

Water bottles: Water bottles without caps and lids are ruining our carpets. Stanley water bottles/cups must have a cap on the straw -- if not, your child may not use these at school. All other water bottles must have caps or caps on their straws as well. Spills are occurring multiple times per day in many rooms. Not only is it damaging to the floors, but causes quite a mess to clean up which takes away from learning. Please make certain your child's water bottles are in compliance with this guideline. Thank you!
