

Sunday, November 13, 2022 Weekly Update for 7th Grade

FROM THE TEACHERS:

Trimester 1: The 7th grade team is so proud of how the students have risen to the expectations this year! This is the last week of Trimester 1. It is a great opportunity to sit down with your children and look at their grades and talk about ways they could improve going forward. One of the biggest opportunities for growth is to work on more independence. Students should be checking Canvas and going into assignments to make sure that they are completing work correctly, as well as looking ahead at their testing schedule to set aside time to study.

Dress Code: As we get into the holiday season, please remember that nail polish and acrylic nails are NEVER allowed at school. We have been really proud of how well students adhered to the dress code so far and appreciate your support with this. Please keep an eye on boys' hair and girls' skirt lengths as we continue this school year!

7th GRADE NEWS & REMINDERS:

Birthdays: Ms. Lisa Bell celebrates her birthday during break on November 25. Please join in wishing her a very happy birthday! Ms. Bell's favorites. Ms. Bell will receive lunch from PTO on November 18 to celebrate her birthday.

End of Trimester Handel's Ice Cream Treat on Friday, November 18: Seventh grade students will celebrate the end of the trimester on Friday, November 18 with Handel's ice cream at lunch. They will enjoy selecting from one of Handel's three most popular flavors: Blue Monster, Oreo Dough (Vanilla ice cream with Oreo and Cookie Dough) and Mint Chip. If your child is not able to eat ice cream, please send in an alternate snack. Thank you!
