Breaking Wave Theatre Company presents
Unspoken; Volume III - Reaching Across

Breaking Wave Theatre Company (BWTC) proudly presents their upcoming production of Unspoken III; Reaching Across, a collection of original works and locally composed music that explores the topics of mental health, substance abuse, and suicide prevention. The pre-recorded show will stream on demand from Sept. 25 to Sept. 30.

Through a collection of scenes, songs, letters, and movement pieces, this year's production of Unspoken will focus on real struggles any member of Guam's community can go through - stories that should never be left unspoken.

"Unspoken is not just a show," says Unspoken Producer CJ Ochoco, "it's a movement towards ways we can use the arts to positively impact our community."

The Unspoken; Volume III theme entitled "Reaching Across" hopes to create room to expand the conversations around mental health, substance abuse, and suicide prevention. This year's Unspoken explores this theme through many ways including reaching through different barriers to have hard conversations and reaching out to support other members of our community.

Tickets are now available for purchase at guamtime.net and users may stream the show more than once.

About Breaking Wave Theatre Company

Breaking Wave Theatre Company is an organization that aims to use theatre and the arts to nurture individuals and build communities. For the past three years, they have engaged in various events that have benefitted local creatives, at-risk youth, and the community at large. BWTC's goals are to use the arts to promote lifelong learning, to improve well-being through self-expression, and to foster a community of artists and audiences.
