MONTHS OF THANKFULNESS

There's this moment at the end of urgency when you accomplish what you set out to do. You get this feeling of peace that rushes over you as you realize your hard work comes with a reward! Perhaps it's the closeness of December that brings this urgency, with it being the last month in the year, but November reminds us to count our blessings and find thankfulness in the chaos. Maybe the Lord knew we needed months like November, months of thankfulness, to keep us from missing the important moments while we rush to finalize all our endeavors. It gives us the opportunity to realign and focus our attention on what truly matters- all the beautiful moments in-between. May we all find peace and be thankful.

And let the peace of God rule in your hearts, to which also ye are called in one body; and be ye thankful. (Colossians 3:15)

EASY PORK CARNITAS

A simple meal for all occasions. Just throw it in a slow cooker and forget about it until dinner time! A quick, easy, and delicious meal to enjoy with friends and family.

INGREDIENTS

- 4lb. pork roast (both boneless & bone-in work)
- 2 ½ tsp. table salt
- 1 Tbsp. ground black pepper
- 1 tsp. dried oregano
- 1 lg onion, diced
- 5 garlic cloves (or 5 tsp. minced garlic)
- 4 Tbsp. lime juice
- ½ c. orange juice
- 1 c. chicken broth
- 2 bay leaves

Recipe sourced from Natalya Drozhzhin at Natashaskitchen.com

INSTRUCTIONS

- Pat the pork dry with a paper towel. In a small bowl, combine salt, pepper, and oregano and rub the pork all over with the seasoning.
- In the slow cooker, combine chopped onion, garlic, lime juice, orange juice, broth, and bay leaves. Add in the pork and cook on high for 5 hours or on low for 7-8.
- Once finished, remove the pork from the slow cooker and shred with two forks.
- To get crispy edges, transfer the shredded pork to a baking sheet. Pour ½ cup of the pork juices to the top of the meat and broil for 5-7 minutes, or until golden brown.
- Serve with fresh fried or toasted tortillas, shredded cheese, and one of Homestead's ready to serve salsas (perhaps the corn or pineapple salsa, yum!).

DONUTS ▶

With bittersweet feelings we share that we will soon be discontinuing donuts. It has been a fun and rewarding venture for us in so many ways, but due to staffing challenges and substantial cost increases, we have decided to press pause so we can focus on growth in other areas. For now, you can still enjoy our donuts through Thanksgiving! We're so grateful for the continued support of all of our amazing customers.

Did you know we sell raw & unprocessed, pure local (from Kentland, IN!) wildflower honey? We know that Voglund Apiary's honey is a well-loved item from the weekly West Lafayette Farmers Market. But where do you get it when the Farmer's Market is closed? We carry it here at The Homestead in several sizes, and at both locations, all year long!

WELCOME AVA JUNE!

Mid-October, Kevin & Leandra welcomed sweet little Ava June (6lbs 15oz) into their family. Mike & Jody took a few days off and headed to Ohio to love on and snuggle the newest little grand, and bring their boys back home to Indiana for a week at Grandpa & Grandmas! There were bikes to be ridden, carpet to farm, cardboard barns to be fixed, jumps to be jumped on the trampoline, rides on the four-wheeler to be had, and much farming with Grandpa to be done. A special week indeed that left a little hole in our hearts when they returned home.

JUST DON'T BE A TURKEY

by WADE J. ZETTERBERG

Two tickets to see your favorite MLB team: $150
A one-tank weekend getaway for the family: $400
An anonymous monetary donation to a family in need: $50
Paying for the next car's meal at the drive thru: $10

You're probably thinking that I'm about to total that up, chat briefly about the lifetime of memories made, and then say how they were "priceless"...but you'd be wrong. Instead, I'm going to say that being a thoughtful and kind person doesn't cost a thing. In fact, I'd like to point out how very FREE it is.

Recently, I've experienced a series of random incidents that have really tested me. Things that were frustrating. Stuff that made me want to just react in the worst ways. I received a bad haircut from a stylist who simply wasn't paying attention. Minor, I know. It's just hair after all, but a test nevertheless. Disparaging words spoken about something I care a great deal about. The urge to speak up and defend what I know to be good, versus just letting it go and being the bigger person, is so difficult at times. And most recently, having to dial 911 because a suspicious individual was seen leaving a closed off area behind my house...at 3AM...one week removed from an attempted break-in in the house across the street. There's almost no category for that kind of concerned anger. Boy, what a test... In every one of those situations, I could have taken the wrong path. Said the wrong things.

Made regrettable decisions all the way around. Decisions that would have ultimately cost me a fortune in peace. And in this day and age, at my level in life, I simply cannot afford to lose that peace. In moments like those, you just need to find your friend Grace, and let her lead you back to where you need to be. It literally costs you nothing to be nice. So yeah, just don't be a turkey.

But seriously though, if you're cutting someone else's hair...pay attention. And definitely don't go snooping on another's property in the wee small hours of the day. That's just criminal.

And before I wrap this up, I want to send out BIG birthday wishes to The Homestead's founder and owner, Jody Bahler! She's the very heart of what we do here at The Homestead.

I hope you all have a super blessed November! Save me a turkey leg!

*"In every thing give thanks: for this is the will of God in Christ Jesus concerning you."
1 Thessalonians 5:18*

“ So impressed with this cute place. Interesting store; like a cute, upgraded Cracker Barrel. Worth the few minutes off on I 65 for a mouthwatering meal plus gas was less expensive than on I65. So glad we looked @ YELP & saw this gem. – Judy M.

“ First time here and it didn't disappoint. I got some to go items and a hot meal as well. I'll definitely be back. This place is the perfect place to go if you want meals frozen for a gift. – Crissy T. (WL Customer)
