IMPACT Last Mile Grant Supplement: Spring Application Open January 30th - March 3rd.

The Last Mile Grant Supplements are intended to support the dissemination of completed research to policymakers in governmental and non-governmental sectors. The application is simple and has only one page.

IMPACT Scholars

IMPACT Scholars is designed to prepare UCS faculty, staff, and students who conduct research to disseminate their findings to governmental policymakers and those who influence them (e.g., professional societies and advocacy organizations).

All UCSF-affiliated faculty, staff, and students who conduct research and are interested in disseminating the results of their research to a policy audience are welcome to apply. Applicants from all schools and departments and each of UCSF's clinical sites and affiliates are welcome. Participants do not need to have a significant policy background prior to applying.

IMPACT Scholars will take the online ImS/EP| 249: Translating Evidence into Policy at no cost. In addition to the course, participants will meet 3 times during the course for networking, guest speakers, and other opportunities.

Applications due: February 7, 2025
