

The Haunted Issue

OCTOBER NEWPORT NEWS YOUR COMPANY'S NEWSLETTER

From haunted lighthouses to ghastly graveyards, October is filled with spooky stories and eerie sites across the portfolio. Though, I have never experienced paranormal activity, I was raised with a few Southern superstitions....such as wearing NCSU attire on game day!

Not everything this month is about 'things that go bump in the night,' we continue to support the local community in Fayetteville for tenth year with The Falcon Children's Home Charity Golf Tournament.

"Falcon's mission is to provide a home for children needing out-of-home placement. We desire to provide services and opportunities that will enhance the total well-being of every child mentally, physically, emotionally, and spiritually. This is accomplished in a Christian environment where the principles and values upon which the Home was established are emphasized."

The remarkable job sponsoring and coordinating this annual event from Michelle and Adam, along with a team of volunteers demonstrates the civic-minded ideals Newport embraces.

This issue features Pink October, tricks to stay organized, hair-raising ideas to deal with workplace 'poltergeists.' Our property's leadership prepares to meet in Virginia Beach in few days, where we will celebrate the accomplishments of our team. Marianne and I look forward to seeing many of you there. We hope you enjoy reading through this month's company news.
