

Better Planning

- Next election cycle, encourage campaigns to use materials, like cardboard and flexible plastic, that are more easily recycled.
- 100% cardboard signs are accepted recyclables.
- Flexible plastic signs are a preferable option, as they can be recycled through special programs, like Trex and WRAP, for plastic bags, film and wrap and are collected at participating grocery and retail stores.
- Candidates should consider the reusability of signage. Avoid printing the date or year on signs and use consistent colors and logos from year to year so they can be reused again and again.
