

Celebrating Two Years of Impact:

Expanding IBH Capacity in Pediatrics with CHWs

On August 7, CTC-RI hosted the final learning collaborative meeting for the Expanding IBH Capacity in Pediatrics Utilizing CHWs project—marking the culmination of two years of innovation and collaboration.

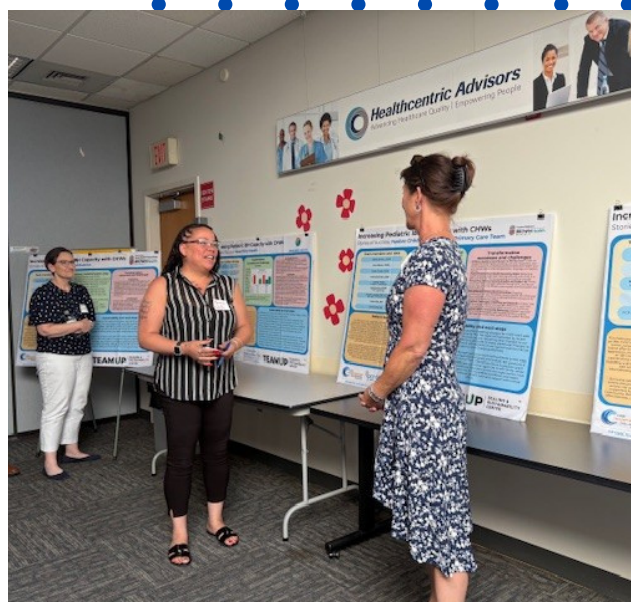

More than 20 attendees gathered in person for a celebratory poster session and reception, where the six participating practices showcased their quality improvement projects, shared lessons learned, and reflected on their journey.

Highlights of the event included:

- Evaluation insights from our partners at the Hassenfeld Child Health Innovation Institute.
- Scaling and sustainability strategies from the Team Up Scaling and Sustainability Center, emphasizing the vital role of training CHWs and practice staff to maximize their impact on IBH teams.

This project represents a major step forward in building integrated behavioral health capacity through community health workers in pediatric practices.

CTC-RI is proud to celebrate the accomplishments of this 2-year effort!

“CTC-RI extends our sincere gratitude to UnitedHealthcare and the Hassenfeld Child Health Innovation Institute for their generous support and partnership.”
