

Are you a college student who has experienced trauma?

WOULD YOU LIKE TO CONTRIBUTE TO A RESEARCH STUDY ABOUT PTSD?

THE STUDY:

Researchers at Rutgers are looking for volunteers who have a mental health condition, PTSD, and are a college student.

- Trauma is associated with stress and can negatively affect one's health and adjustment to post-secondary education.
- Your participation can potentially help researchers discover ways to improve educational outcomes for those with PTSD.

Once enrolled, you will have an opportunity to participate in a focus group interview which will inform the development of a new CBT treatment manual for college students with PTSD.

*Participants will be compensated $30!***

There may be no direct benefit to participating in the study, however some participants may find it gratifying knowing that the information from this study will benefit future students with PTSD.

FOR MORE INFORMATION CONTACT:

Co-Investigator, Brittany Stone
Brittany.stone@rutgers.edu

Department of Psychiatric Rehabilitation. SHP
675 Hoes Lane West- 8th Floor
Research Tower
Piscataway, NJ 08854