What is the NAMI Family to Family educational program about?

Family to Family is a free 8-session program for family members, partners, friends, and loved ones of adults living with mental illness. The course is designed to help the whole family understand and support loved ones living with a mental disorder, without neglecting the well-being of the family circle. The course includes information on mental disorders such as schizophrenia, bipolar disorder, and severe depression, among others. Thousands of families describe the program as a life-changing experience. The program is led by trained instructors who are also family members of adults living with a mental health diagnosis and know firsthand what it means to have a loved one in these circumstances.

NAMI NJ, is an affiliate organization of the National Alliance on Mental Illness, and will offer the educational program "Family to Family", beginning in Spring on Wednesday, March 8th, through April 26th, 2023. Fall on Wednesday September 20th through November 8th, 2023 from 7:00 p.m. to 9:00 p.m. ET via zoom. Classes and materials are free. Registration is required.

Participant Perspective

"This course has helped me realize that my son is still inside his body, which is often hidden due to the mental illness he lives with, and that I am not alone in this."
