

Tom Scotto

Tom is responsible for managing, at both a strategic and operational level, Spector Companies key frontline functions. He provides leadership and direction to meet client demands, improve staff performance, and maintain firm compliance. His 25 years of experience as a leader, project manager & project architect, combined with his extensive expertise in construction, yielded an expert understanding of the operational complexities of a global architecture and design practice. Tom is a licensed architect in New York and New Jersey and has a Bachelor of Architecture from the New York Institute of Technology. He has served as the LI Chapters Secretary and a Director over the past 4 years. Tom is also a member of the National Council of Architectural Registration Boards and is the recipient of several construction certifications.
