Enid Day at the Capitol will be held on Tuesday, March 5th at the John D. Groendyke Wildlife Building located at 1801 North Lincoln Boulevard in Oklahoma City.

Legislators, state agency officials, and staff will attend the meet and greet continental breakfast which will begin at 8:30 a.m.

Chamber President Jon Blankenship said, “Enid Day at the Capitol is an important opportunity for Enid businesses, educational institutions and local officials to engage with our state legislators and other state leaders.” He said attendees will discuss issues and opportunities that impact Enid and Northwest Oklahoma. “We always appreciate our legislators from Enid and the region speaking at the event,” said Blankenship. Leadership Enid Class XXXIII will be attending as well.

“Enid Day at the Capitol is an important event for Enid’s leadership and business representatives to attend,” said Mike Riddle, State Economic Development/Government Affairs Committee Chair. “The event provides an opportunity for one-on-one discussions with our legislative delegation regarding items that affect Enid and the surrounding communities.”

Please plan to attend this important Enid and Northwest Oklahoma legislative event.
