Acme...much more than paper

The Attman family has made Churchill Sponsorship a family affair providing support through two family-owned and operated businesses: Attman's Delicatessen & Acme Paper & Supply Co., Inc.!

Founded in 1915, Attman's Delicatessen is the oldest Jewish delicatessen in the country owned by the original family. In support of all the students at Churchill high school, Attman's will be launching a discounted ($9.99) student menu for any student that has a valid WCHS student ID Monday through Fridays. Check out the menu below!

For over 108 years, Attman's has been recognized as one of the best delicatessens around the world, Attman's is most famous for its mouthwatering corned beef and just last month was ranked the #3 best pastrami sandwich in the country. In celebration of our 10th anniversary in Potomac, The Attman family is proud to become the newest Churchill booster. Attman's shared "We believe our family values of hard work, integrity, and teamwork pair perfectly with the athletics program at Churchill High School."

Also owned and operated by the Attman family is Acme Paper & Supply. Scott Attman and Acme Paper are thrilled to support the Churchill athletics program as a booster sponsor. Acme Paper is a 77-years old distribution company with five divisions: Restaurant Equipment & Design; Restaurant Smallwares & Tabletop; Foodservice Disposables and Packaging; Hygiene and Facilities Solutions; and Janitorial Equipment and Repair. Just as Churchill is committed to educating and developing the great minds of the future, Acme Paper is also committed to serving the future of our communities. Acme works with local restaurants, schools, healthcare systems, office buildings, and sports facilities to name a few. Acme Paper is considered one of the leading distributors of green and environmentally friendly products in the country.

The Attman family is proud to support all our Churchill athletes and especially their own, Ryan Attman, currently a sophomore who plays baseball and wrestles!
