Parefeuilles Rose Provencal Terra Cotta

Embracing the Beauty of History and the Spirit of Conservation.

Walk along the pathways of past worlds with antique and European flooring that entrenches a space with history. Their elegant forms are layered with the markings of time and give meaning to the present. Our exclusive French and Italian flooring is versatile and enduring, accommodating interior and exterior use for residential or commercial projects. Our experts provide consultation on the stone's sizing, patterns, colors, custom patterns, and textures to perfect the French, timeless look that has made these choice materials last throughout the centuries. We source directly from the quarries and offer newly quarried and reclaimed antique French limestone, Belgian bluestone, terra cotta tiles from Provence, and French oak flooring, which are in our warehouses for immediate delivery.

Saganese French Limestone

French Limestone

An ancient design tradition

Limestone has been used as flooring for thousands of years, lining the ancient streets of Rome and forming Egypt's pyramids. Its durability, timelessness, and creamy hues give the understated stone a sense of beautiful permanence. For 30 years, we have been importing natural stone from France to provide our discerning clientele with the finest limestone flooring that will look at home in both modern or traditional design schemes. The selection ranges from prestigious antique Dalle de Bourgogne, which adorns the floor in many of France's historical landmarks, to newly quarried stone in classic or custom patterns.

Aalst Belgian Bluestone

Belgian Bluestone

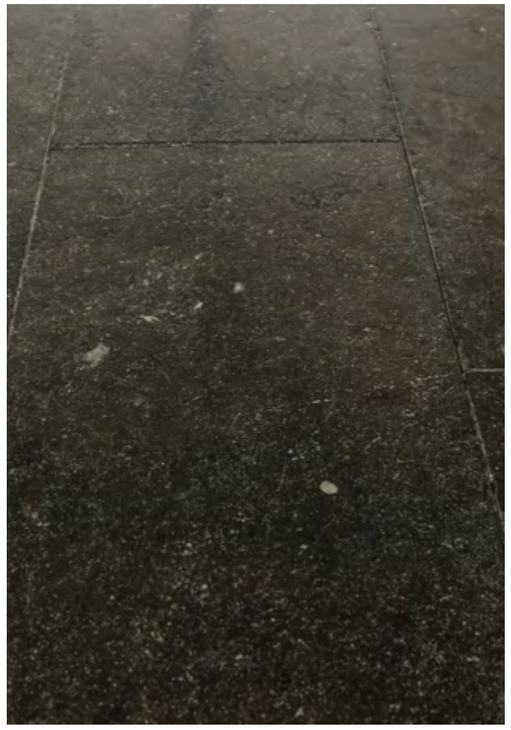

A long-lasting anchor to interior and exterior spaces

Our antique Belgian bluestone has been carefully dismantled by hand. We also have access to newly quarried blocks of stone. The block is selected for its use and cut into flagstones, tiles, cobblestones, pool copings or any architectural element. The bluestone floors, surfaces, and slabs from Belgium will not wear and perfectly adapt to the demands of modern comfort. Its hard surface will only expose the signs of heavy exposure after 150 years of use, approximately. Bluestone floor tiles exhibit a full spectrum of warm shades of color and tone and add a deep sense of age and grace to any property.

Provencal Terra Cotta

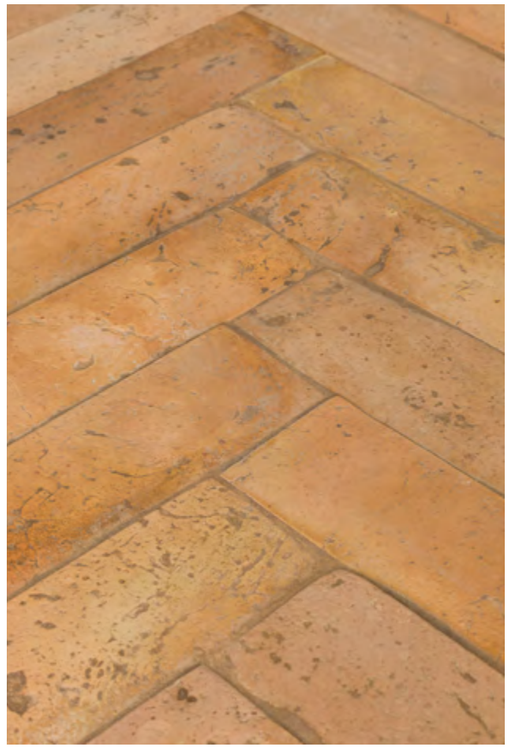

Colorful expressions of French history

The antique and reclaimed rose and ochre-colored Provencal terra cotta flooring adds richness and individuality to an interior or exterior setting. Their hues and variations, combined with their patina and uneven surfaces, make this exquisite flooring unique and rare. Our parefeuille tiles were hand-made and fired in kilns, a regular practice until the 19th Century that reflects centuries of history and tradition. The tiles come in various shapes, such as square, rectangular, and hexagonal, and are installed in many different patterns that recreate the informal French atmosphere. Our experts carefully inspect and painstakingly clean each individual lot to ensure a noble yet relaxed appearance.

Parquet De Versailles Pattern French Oakwood

French Oakwood

Layer interiors with the imprint of time

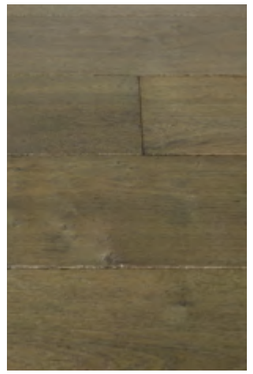

Antique oak flooring was traditionally used in northern France during the 18th Century. Hundreds of years of exposure and use have been imprinted on these natural floorboards, giving them character and a refined elegance that cannot be replicated by any other wood. The surface of the oak planks have been cleaned and refreshed by expert craftsmen, exposing their veins and color variation for charm and individuality, while the inimitable patina is maintained. The oakwood flooring planks are available in different colors, widths, and textures. Our collection includes Parquet de Versailles, Chevron and Herringbone patterns, which are available in solid hardwood and compatible with cooling and under-floor heating. Straight planks are laid in alternating lengths and widths with tongue and groove for ease of installation.

About Us

We offer an unprecedented collection of monumental European antiques and reclaimed building materials for the home and garden. Our treasures have been acquired over many decades by discerning owners and experts, husband and wife duo, Susan and Wolfgang Hofherr, during their extensive travels abroad.

We are a rare resource for interior designers, architects, and landscape architects with a devotion to authenticity and imbuing spaces with living history. We have discovered through our many years of experience that similar is not the same and have selected our statuary, fountains, flooring and more for their craftsmanship, quality, and distinctiveness.
