

Does the Law Require Doctors to provide interpreters?

Doctors' offices located inside of a hospital are public accommodations and are required to provide auxiliary aids and services, such as an interpreter for the appointments. It also requires that the doctor provide an interpreter to a companion of a patient that the doctor would normally communicate with during the appointment.