

The right to equal access to public accommodations and governmental facilities.

Cruise ships, restaurants, doctors' offices, hotels, courthouses, airports, and any other type of location that is open to the public, should be open to everybody, whether on wheels or legs, blind or sighted, hearing or deaf. These locations should not only be physically accessible, but should also modify their policies and procedures to ensure that all persons have the opportunity to enjoy the programs, or services of any public or private entity.
