

A month ago, I went to Las Vegas with my family to celebrate my high school graduation. It was an amazing experience! There are so many shows to see, lots of food to eat, and countless numbers of attractions in the different hotels.

Cirque Du Soleil is really popular over there. I saw Michael Jackson One and a water show called Le Reve. The last show I saw was Jennifer Lopez in concert. Out of all three, the Michael Jackson tribute was my favorite. At the show, all of my favorite songs by him were played, the acrobats did great tricks, and there were really cool special effects. The J.Lo show was awesome too! All of her hit songs were played and I kept dancing in my seat. It was very sweet how she dedicated the song "I Hope You Dance" to her two kids. Le Reve was gorgeous to watch. There were more acrobats and the water danced to the music that was playing.

There's also lots things to see in nature in Vegas. The Red Rock Canyon Conservation Area has beautiful rocks that, when you look at them a certain way, make shapes. It was really impressive that, over time, simple rocks in the desert became tourist attractions. At the Mirage hotel, you'll find Siegfried and Roy's Secret Garden and Dolphin Habitat. Not only will you see dolphins, of course, but the garden also has white tigers and white lions. My dream of seeing a white tiger finally came true!

In the New York City area of Las Vegas, there is a Hershey's and Reese's store. In the Reese's store, they had Reese's pillows, flip flops, t-shirts, coffee mugs, and so much more. I got a pillow. There's also a giant coke bottle that's an elevator. Next to that, there is a Coca Cola store. It's similar to Reese's, but everything is Coke related. Lastly, I got the chance to go on the tallest ferris wheel in the world called the High Roller. It's 550 feet tall and when you get to the top, you can see a beautiful view of the entire city. Overall, Vegas was great and I recommend that you go too!
