October 2022

At All Saints' BBQ is Sacramental

It happens twice a year here in Morristown. Well at least it happens twice a year in non- pandemic years. We have BBQ in the fall and the spring. The build up for BBQ is slow and gradual. The planning behind the scenes is deliberate and intense. So many moving pieces have to fall into place for a BBQ weekend to be successful.

We start planning for the next BBQ as soon as the last one wraps up. While the event is still fresh in our minds, we have a postmortem meeting to discuss what went right, what could have gone better, and how we might improve. Then we rest for a couple of months before we get ready for the next BBQ.

A group of 15 or so faithful parishioners have been meeting for months carefully planning for October 6-8, 2022. This year we had to order a new tent to replace the one the windstorm destroyed last spring. We also made the decision to buy shelves to store equipment inside the church downstairs. We can also use the same shelving to hold orders for our growing corporate sales.

A dozen people met a couple weeks ago on a Saturday morning to brew 110 gallons of All Saints' BBQ sauce. We started at 8:00 AM and finished around 1:00PM. Under the leadership of Bob Harmon the whole event went off like clockwork. Bottling the whole inventory of sauce took place last week.

Careful calculations were made and then checked and rechecked to order the required 6000 lbs. of pork butts, slaw makings, beans, and all the serving containers. Here again we are grateful for Bill Connellee for his amazing attention to detail to get these orders in on time. Susie Carter is our Queen of Slaw and Brooke White is our Queen of Baked Beans. The production of both BBQ sides require the coordination of numerous volunteers.

John Hutchins and Udo Wender are the two pit masters who oversee the all-night flipping and sauce basting of the pork on Thursday and Friday. Two shifts of trustees help with the labor of turning the pork butts every hour. Countless wheel barrels full of hard wood scraps are hauled and carefully turned into coals that slowly smoke and cook the pork butts. When the meat comes off the pit there is an army of volunteer workers waiting and ready to grind the meat, weigh it and package it. Some of it is made into sandwiches and plate dinners.

Inside the parish hall cardboard has been put down on the floor to protect it from all the constant back and forth traffic. Patty Kirkley & Kathy Jones-Terry head up tracking the Corporate sales. John Litz lets us borrow his gator to haul cooked meat up the hill. There is a beehive of activity constantly bringing out food and supplies to the tent where the sales are made. Of course we've gone high tech with a point of sales ordering system that allows us to keep track of everything thanks to Skeet Jernigan. Inside the church office Lynne Ann Anderson has been taking orders for a couple of weeks and that weekend works overtime to account for all the sales.

Jack Fishman graciously spreads the word about All Saints' BBQ through the Citizen Tribune and Anne Ross uses digital media and the Chamber to do the same. Carolyn Dean works with Tribune on placing our ads. The wardens of the parish, Howard Mauney and Colleen Andrews, have been tirelessly working behind the scenes for months, "herding the cats," all the while listening to complaints and suggestions. The job is never ending and it's always a work in progress.

At some point you begin to see that this is really much more than a twice a year fundraiser. It's a community of faith coming together with the goal a common purpose. It's a labor of love that serves the wider community of Morristown. It brings us all closer together and let's people know who we are. Before coming to Morristown I never really thought that BBQ could be sacramental. Having witnessed firsthand how much goes into each All Saints' BBQ event, I can now see it all in a new light.

Hello from your Senior Warden,

October is going to be a very busy month at All Saints'. The first event is the lasagna dinner on October 1st. If you need tickets, please see any member of the Vestry. As usual, the evening should prove to be a lot of fun. Let us pack the Parish Hall!! Next up is the BBQ! Those dates are October 5th – 8th. Sign up sheets are in the Parish Hall or Narthex. Please sign up! We will be cooking 6,000 lbs. of meat, so lots of hands will be needed for all areas of BBQ. And finally in October, the Bishop will be at All Saints on October 23 for confirmation. Currently, Father Mark has 15 in attendance for confirmation classes. There is also the possibility of 3 to 5 baptisms.

Attendance, both in person and online, has been good this year. However, our pledges are falling behind a bit. For August, we were $10,000 below our budget. And year to date August, they are $18,000 below budget. We need to try to get caught up over the Fall.

Hopefully now that Fall is here, we will see the temperature start to come down some.

Howard Mauney

Senior Warden

I hope everyone is enjoying these beautiful early Fall days! With Italian night and barbecue on the horizon we have a very busy season ahead. There are currently 15 people attending confirmation classes in order to be confirmed when the Bishop visits on October 23. There will also be 3 to 5 baptisms. That should be a glorious day!

Peace

Linda Haas - Vestry liaison / Evangelism

Happy Fall Everyone!

BBQ is here and so is our new Tent! Many thanks to Martie Anderson and all of the people who helped to identify the features we need for smooth tent sale operations. We'll be setting up the tent early to make sure all of the bells and whistles are in working order – plan to come by on Tuesday the 4th at 8:00 am.

Many thanks to all of you who help to keep our beautiful church in working order!

Peace,
Colleen Andrews
Jr. Warden

BBQ UPDATE

Reminder: Our next BBQ will be held October 6-8, 2022. Sign-up sheets are up in the Parish Hall. For the first time in several years, we will be cooking BOTH NIGHTS to make sure we have enough BBQ for everyone – we have 6,000 pounds of meat on order! This will require a significant effort on our part, and we will need all the help we can get. We still need assistance on all Pit Shifts – please sign-up if you can help,

Changes: This year we will be making and packing coleslaw on Wednesday, October 5th. This means we will need to have the Parish Hall set up on Tuesday, October 4th.

Reminder: We still need BOXES and BAGS for use in the tent and for packing corporate orders.

Parish Life

We have much to celebrate during the Bishop's visit on October 23. In addition to having the Bishop here, we have Baptisms and Confirmations, therefore, we would like to have a really nice reception. Brooke White has graciously offered to contact people and will be putting out the all call for the parish to bring their delectables. No one does a better reception than our wonderful All Saints' parish family! If you would like to go ahead and let Brooke know what you plan to bring, please do so.

(I don't think BBQ falls under Parish Life and I assume that BBQ dates etc. will be included in the newsletter)

Thanks for all you do.

Blessings and peace+

Cindi

We will be filling food bags on Sunday October 16, and will hand them out on Saturday, October 29. We will need to be at the FOF warehouse by 10:30 in case we need to package some donations to be given that day.

We will have to fill food bags again on Sunday, October 30, for the month of November, because we have to hand them out on Saturday, November 5. Again, we will need to meet at the FOF warehouse at 10:30. This is going to make for a busy couple of weeks, but our earlier hand-out date in October had to be changed because of BBQ.

The need for food help has grown, and most Saturdays 250 to 275 bags of food are given to those who come. Some families now come together to save on gas, and there are even a few who walk or ride bicycles. Come some Saturday at 10:30 and join us and witness your Outreach in Action.

Thank you.
