

December 2017

Sunday,
December 10,
1:00—4:00pm

What's a Jew to Do?

Talking about Racism and Anti-Semitism and Where They Intersect.

An interactive workshop with Yehudah Webster. We hear (and use) the words "oppression" and "privilege" a lot these days, but what do they really mean and how do they affect our country, our community and us as Jews? We're delving in to the complicated issues of modern-day racism, anti-Semitism and exploring how these power dynamics are playing out in our own backyards. Yehudah Webster and members from the Detroit Jewish community will share their personal stories about being on "both sides of the fence" and together we will reflect on our own experiences and work to find ways to make our community a more inclusive, welcoming place for everyone. Co-sponsored with Detroit City Moishe House, NEXTGen Detroit, The Well, and Detroit Jews for Justice.

Saturday,
December 16,
4:00—6:00pm

2nd Annual Lil' Latkes Hanukkah Party

Join us for a special Tot Hanukkah party, complete with songs, latkes, donuts, bagels, and activities designed for kids ages 6 and under (all are welcome)! Please send an RSVP via email to Vicki at vsitron@downtownsynagogue.org.

Sunday,
December 17,
3:30—5:30pm

Come My Beloved

Join us for a staged reading of Come My Beloved, a new play about the shared history and future of Black and Jewish communities in Detroit. The performance will be followed by a community discussion led by Pastor Aramis Hinds and Rabbi Ariana Silverman. Suggested donation of $10 to support production costs.

Sunday,
December 17
5:30—9:00pm

Annual Meeting and Hanukkah Party

We will begin the evening with our annual meeting. All members in good standing may vote on the slate and new Board Members and Officers. After, stay for Hanukkah delights featuring a latke bar and more! Please join us for food, fun, and some holiday comradery.

Isaac Agree Downtown Synagogue

1457 Griswold St., Detroit downtownsynagogue.org 313.962.4047