

The kids go marching one by one to BIG BUGS at the Garden

It's widely known that time spent in green spaces can improve students' cognitive development.

Memphis Botanic Garden is your “natural” resource for learning!

MBG is hosting David Rogers' Big Bugs this fall! These larger than life insects will make the Garden their home:

September 16-December 31

Throughout the exhibit we will offer self-guided tours, guided tours, classes and an Incredible Insects Festival.

These programs are the perfect backdrop to teach students why these “crawlies” aren't so creepy after all!

Students will learn about insect anatomy, life cycles, adaptations, local habitats, beneficial bugs and more.

Through a generous sponsorship from Terminix, International Paper, and Speer Charitable Trust we are happy to be able to offer a limited number of scholarships for schools that might not otherwise be able to attend.

These scholarships will be given on a first come first served basis and are offered for a menu of programs.

Self-Guided Tour - Free (normally $4)

Guided Tour - $2.00 per student (normally $5)

Big Bugs Class - $2.50 per student (normally $5)

Incredible Insects Festival - $3.00 per student (normally $6)

To apply for these scholarships please visit www.memphisbotanicgarden.com/learn or email Kristen.zemaitis@memphisbotanicgarden.com

