

FACTS ABOUT 2017 TNREADY END OF COURSE (EOC) RESULTS

SUMMARY

As students and teachers continue to adjust to the more rigorous TNReady standards, we're beginning to see encouraging progress in multiple areas. While there is little movement in the total percentage of high school students rated at the highest achievement levels, more students District-wide are moving out of the lowest achievement category in the majority of subjects. At the school level, many high schools are showing improvement on both ends of the spectrum, including several high-performers that continue to outpace statewide scores in the highest achievement categories. Additionally, all student subgroups are improving across the majority of subjects.
