

Teamwork makes the dream work.

As CHP continues to expand its reach throughout Berkshire County, we're proud and fortunate to have a growing, dedicated core of community leaders on our board, volunteering their time and experience to help transform population health care in the Berkshires. The recent addition of Nicole Antil and Gloria Escobar reflects our effort to bring fresh, real-life perspective and professional experience to the board.

Since our inception in 1975 under the caring hands of Dr.

Thomas Whitfield, CHP has had a strong legacy of board leadership, with true heroes like Linda Small, Bobbie Hallig, Catherine Miller and Wendy Linscott; to name a few.

shaping our history. More recently, two outstanding board leaders, Jodi Rathbun-Briggs and Lynne Carlotto, who completed their long tenures in 2017, navigated CHP through a challenging transition, culminating in the appointment of our high-energy, current CEO, Lia Spiliotes.

CHP is determined to become a national model for delivering exceptional, compassionate care to everyone within our reach. In collaboration with leaders like Berkshire Health Systems, we will dramatically improve the health of people throughout the Berkshires.

To do that, we're going to rely on the guidance of a strong board of directors. I am honored to be a part of that team, and I want to thank each of them for their commitment to CHP's highly vital mission.
